ACCELERATING FINANCIAL INCLUSION IN INDIA STATUS, CHALLENGES AND WAY FORWARD

Manjula Wadhwa

Seven of the seventeen United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) of 2030 view Financial Inclusion as a key enabler for achieving sustainable development worldwide by improving the quality of lives of poor and marginalized sections of the society. Assimilating this universal truth, countries across the globe, including India, have developed suitable strategies and policies to increase access and usage of formal financial services. According to the annual Financial Inclusion Index (FII) computed by RBI for 2020-21, the FII stood at 53.9 as compared to 43.4 for 2017 registering a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 5.5 per cent.

FINANCIAL INCLUSION - DEFINITION

Financial Inclusion may be defined as the process of ensuring access to financial services and timely and adequate credit where needed by vulnerable groups such as weaker sections and low income groups at an affordable cost. These include bank accounts for savings and transactional purposes, low cost credit for productive, personal and other purposes, financial advisory services, insurance, overdraft and pension facilities etc.

NEED FOR FINANCIAL INCLUSION STRATEGY

Financial Inclusion is increasingly being recognized as a key driver of economic growth and poverty alleviation the world over. Access to formal finance can boost job creation, reduce vulnerability to economic shocks and increase investments in human capital. Without adequate access to formal financial services, individuals and firms need to rely on their own limited resources or rely on costly informal sources of finance to meet their financial needs and pursue growth opportunities. At a macro level, greater financial inclusion can support sustainable and inclusive socio-economic growth for all. There has been growing evidence on how financial inclusion has a multiplier effect in boosting overall economic output, reducing poverty and income inequality at the national level. Financial inclusion of women is particularly important for gender equality and women's economic empowerment. An inclusive financial system supports stability, integrity and equitable growth. Therefore, financial exclusion because of several barriers like physical, socio-cultural and psychological, warrants attention from the policy makers.

HISTORY OF FINANCIAL INCLUSION IN INDIA

Financial Inclusion initiatives in India started in the aftermath of first All India Rural Credit Survey in 1954 with promotion of cooperatives, followed later by the nationalization of Life Insurance companies in 1956, banks in 1969 and 1980 and nationalization of General Insurance companies in 1972. The mission got further impetus with the expansion of branch network after nationalization of major private sector banks, launch of Lead Bank Scheme,

Civil Services interview, also known as personality test, is tentatively scheduled from 6th April 2022 and will continue till late May. During this period, scores of candidates who qualified in the main examination conducted by UPSC will be facing the UPSC interview board in Delhi. A sense of fear and nervousness is inevitable because there is so much at stake for the candidates. However, there is no real cause to get scared because of three main reasons. One, there is nothing unpredictable that is going to happen at the interview. Of the three stages of the Civil Services examination, interview is the most predictable one and you can always anticipate most of the questions and issues put before you by the board. Secondly, the board is always very friendly with the candidate and instead of making you nervous; they will help you attain your poise. Thirdly, it is not going to be a question bombardment session; rather, it is going to be just an engaging conversation with the board. In any case, since it is a personality test, what is going to be tested is what all is that you have cultivated so far in life and not just what you are going to read few days before the interview. Therefore, it is absolutely desirable to treat the interview as a normal event and not as a super event.

Confucius, the great Chinese philosopher said, "Life is simple. But, we insist on making it complicated." In the same vein, Civil Services interview is simple. But it is deliberately made out to be complicated. In the good old days, there was no coaching to groom the candidates, yet, they used to perform well. What matters at the end of the day is not what others would like you to say or do, but what really you need to say and do from your own perspective. So, instead of borrowing often conflicting perspectives from others, you should trust your own instincts as far as preparing for the interview is concerned. This is not to say that outside help is to be discarded fully. All that is meant here is that you need to exercise caution in taking outside help, mostly coming from unreliable experts. Today, people without any knowledge of what the Civil Services interview is all about, are masquerading as experts and making big claims to groom you for the day. One should have a cautious approach while seeking guidance in grooming sessions because a lot of myths have been created about the interview by the self-styled experts. Remember, only highly experienced persons in the field with known caliber can truly guide you. Therefore, seek help of only the authentic, capable persons in the field of interview.

promotion of Self Help Groups (SHGs), Joint Liability Groups (JLGs), implementation of Banking Correspondents (BC) model, expansion of banking outlets, creation of payments banks, small finance banks, etc. However, the real thrust on financial inclusion came in 2005 when Reserve Bank of India highlighted its significance in its annual policy statement of 2005-06. It urged banks to work towards reaching out to the masses, offering banking services down to the hinterland. Financial Inclusion as a policy initiative entered the banking lexicon only after recommendations of the Rangarajan Committee in 2008 with RBI advising all public and private banks to submit a board-approved, three-year FI plan (FIP) starting from April 2010, broadly including self-set targets in terms of rural branches, coverage of unbanked villages with population above 2,000 and those with population below 2,000; deployment of Business Correspondents and Facilitators, use of electronic/ kiosk modes for provision of financial services; opening of no-frills accounts etc. For dispensation of credit, Kisan Credit Cards, General Credit Cards, designed to cater to the financially excluded segments, were introduced. Further, banks were advised to integrate FIPs with their business plans and to include the criteria on FI as a parameter in the performance evaluation metrics of their staff. Different approaches adopted by RBI towards achieving financial inclusion are as under:-

RECENT HIGH-IMPACT FI INTERVENTIONS

Pradhan Mantri Jan Dhan Yojana (PMJDY) - The historic shift in Financial Inclusion came with the introduction of Pradhan Mantri Jan-Dhan Yojana (PMJDY) in August 2014. As per RBI, more than 43.04 crore beneficiaries have been banked under PMJDY since inception as on 10th January 2022. The journey of PMJDY led interventions undertaken over a short span of 7 years has in effect, produced both transformational as well as directional change thereby making the emerging FI ecosystem capable of delivering financial services to the last person of the society - the poorest of the poor. The notable point is that 55% Jan-Dhan account holders are women and 67% Jan Dhan accounts are in rural and semi-urban areas. Issuing licenses for Small Finance Banks and Payment Banks by RBI gave further impetus to this scheme. The Ministry of Finance and National Informatics Centre jointly developed a mobile app called Jan-Dhan Darshak, with a view to enable common people in locating financial service touch points. The role of mobile-banking and India Post has also been highly significant. With 154000+ post offices, of which 90% are in rural areas, it is the friendly postman you meet every day, who could be your banking relationship manager.

National Strategy for Financial Inclusion (NSFI) 2019-24 - The NSFI for the period 2019-2024 was formulated by etc. In southern states, commercial banks and Regional Rural Banks have played a major role in providing credit to farmers. Still, small and marginal farmers in particular, depend quite substantially on moneylenders.

- RuPay - An Indian domestic debit card introduced in 2012 by National Payments Corporation of India, proved to be a gamechanger in creating better digital infrastructure and enabled faster penetration of debit card culture.

- Self Help Groups (SHG) -Bank Linkage Program- Launched by NABARD (National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development) way back in 1992, as an alternative credit delivery mechanism for reaching the unreached, this initiative has proved to be a considerably remarkable milestone for achieving the target of financial inclusion. As per NABARD's latest Annual Report, with about 112 lakh SHGs operating in all the nooks and corners of semi-urban and rural India, this program has become the largest Micro Credit Program of the world.

- Joint Liability Groups Scheme - This is yet another institutional intervention introduced in 2004 by NABARD with a view to enable landless/tenant farmers, oral lessees secure collateral free loans for productive purposes from the banking system just on the basis of joint undertaking.

Business Correspondent Model- RBI, in view of the fact that opening bank branches in all locations cannot be a viable proposition, in January 2006, permitted banks to employ Business Correspondents and Business Facilitators, for providing banking and financial services in remote areas. As of now, more than 12.4 lakh BCs have been operating. Keeping in view the important role played by the Cooperative Banks in providing banking facilities to the rural populace, still outside the ambit of formal banking, certain amendments to the Banking Regulation Act 1949 have been made for increasing professionalism, enabling access to capital and improving governance and oversight for sound banking through the RBI.

Direct Benefit Transfer - This is yet another initiative introduced on 1st

PM Shri Narendra Modi's Mann Ki Baat

(HIGHLIGHTS)

India has achieved the export target of $ 400 billion i.e. 30 lakh crore rupees. In a way, this means that the demand for items made in India is increasing all over the world; the other meaning is that the supply chain of India is getting stronger by the day. New products from all corners of the country are reaching foreign shores. For example, the first consignment of millets grown in Himachal and Uttarakhand was exported to Denmark. Bainganapalli and Subarnarekha mangoes from Krishna and Chittoor districts of Andhra Pradesh were exported to South Korea. Fresh jackfruits from Tripura were exported to London by air and for the first time King Chilli from Nagaland was dispatched to London. Similarly, the first consignment of Bhalia wheat was exported from Gujarat to Kenya and Sri Lanka. The list is very long and the power of Make in India is equivalent in might to the extent of the list.

- Equally great is the potential of India... and the basis of its strength are our farmers, artisans, our weavers, engineers, our small entrepreneurs, the MSME sector; people from many different professions, all of them are its true strength. It is only due to their hard work, that the goal of exporting to the tune of $ 400 billion has been achieved and I am happy that this power of the people of India is now reaching new markets in every nook and corner of the world. When each and every Indian is 'Vocal for Local,' it does not take long for the local to become global. Let's make the local 'global' and augment the prestige of our products further.
- Today, our small entrepreneurs are playing a major partnership role in government procurement through Government e-Market place i.e. GeM. A much transparent system has been developed through technology. During the last one year through the GeM portal, the government has purchased items worth more than Rs 1 lakh crore. Close to 1.25 lakh small entrepreneurs, small shopkeepers from every corner of the country have sold their goods directly to the government. Now, even the smallest of shopkeepers can sell one's goods to the government on the GeM Portal - this is 'New India.' She not only dreams big, but also shows the courage to reach that goal, where no one has reached before. On the basis of this very courage, all of us Indians together will definitely fulfill the dream of an Aatmanirbhar Bharat, a self-reliant India.
- You must have observed Baba Sivanandji in the recently held Padma Awards ceremony. Seeing the agility of the 126-year-old, everyone must have been surprised just like I was. Indeed, the life of Baba Sivanandji is an inspiration for all of us. I wish him a long life. He has a passion for yoga and leads a very healthy lifestyle.

- Today, the collective Indian thought on health, whether it is Yoga or Ayurveda, is increasingly trending all over the world. Just last week, a Yoga program was organized in Qatar. In this, citizens of 114 countries participated and made a new world record. Similarly, the market of the AYUSH Industry is also increasing continuously. 6 years ago, the market for medicines related to Ayurveda was around Rs 22,000 crores. Today, the AYUSH Manufacturing Industry is reaching around Rs 1,40,000 crores, which means, possibilities are increasing continuously in this sector.
- In the Start-Up world too, AYUSH is becoming a subject of attraction. I have a request for the Start-Ups of the Health Sector and especially the AYUSH Start-Ups. Whatever portal you design online; whatever content you create, try to make it in all the languages recognized by the United Nations. There are many such countries in the world where English is neither spoken nor understood much. Promote your information keeping such countries in mind as well. I am sure that soon, AYUSH Start-Ups from India with better quality products will reign all over the world.
- For centuries, water conservation in our country; protection of water sources has been part of the nature of society. I am happy that many people in the country have made water conservation a life mission. I hail from a state where there has always been a shortage of water. Step wells known as 'Vav' have played a big role in a state like Gujarat. Under the 'Jal Mandir Scheme' several step wells were revived all over Gujarat. This also helped a lot in raising the water level in these areas. You can also run similar campaigns at the local level. Be it the construction of check dams or rain water harvesting, individual efforts are also important in this and collective efforts are necessary too. For instance, at least 75 Amrit Sarovars can be made in every district of our country in the Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav. Some old lakes can be rejuvenated; some new ones can be dug.
- India's culture, our languages, our dialects, our way of life, our culinary range, all of this diversity is our great strength. From east to west, from north to south, this diversity binds India together, leading to Ek Bharat Shreshtha Bharat. Madhavpur Mela held at Madhavpur near the sea at Porbandar in Gujarat is a manifestation of this unity in diversity. It is said that thousands of years ago Lord Krishna was married to Rukmani, a princess from the North East. This marriage took place in Madhavpur, Porbandar and as a symbol of that marriage, even today Madhavpur fair is held there. This deep relationship between the East and West is our heritage. With the passage of time and with the efforts of the people, new aspects too are now being added to the Madhavpur fair. In local parlance, the bride's side is called Gharati and now many Gharatis from the North East have started coming to this fair. Artisans from all the states of the North East reach the Madhavpur Fair, enhancing the beauty of the fair manifold. For a week, this amalgamation of cultures of the East and West of India creates a very beautiful example of Ek Bharat Shreshtha Bharat.

- Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav is now becoming a new example of public participation. A few days ago, on the 23rd of March, many celebrations were held in different corners of the country on Martyrs' Day. The country remembered the heroes and heroines of her Independence; remembered them reverently. On the same day I also got the opportunity to dedicate to the nation the Biplobi Bharat Gallery at Victoria Memorial, Kolkata. This is a very unique gallery to pay tribute to the brave revolutionaries of India.

- In the month of April, we also celebrate the birth anniversary of two great personalities-Mahatma Phule's birth anniversary on the 11th of April and Babasaheb Ambedkar's birth anniversary on the 14th of April. Both of these great men fought persistently against discrimination and inequality. Mahatma Phule opened schools for girls in that era; raised his voice against female infanticide. Savitribai Phule played a significant role in the formation of many Social institutions. Taking inspiration from the life of Mahatma Phule, Savitribai Phule, and Babasaheb Ambedkar, I request all the parents and guardians to ensure education for their daughters. In order to increase the enrollment of daughters in schools, the Kanya Shiksha Pravesh Utsav has also been started a few days ago... the focus is on bringing back to school those girls who missed their studies for some reason.

- Many festivals are lined up. In Navratri, we practice fasting, perform sadhana of Shakti, worship Shakti...that is, our traditions teach us celebration and restraint as well. Sanyam and Tap are also a festival for us, which is why Navratri has always been very special for all of us. Easter also comes in April and the holy days of Ramadan are also starting. Let us celebrate our festivals by including everyone together, strengthening India's diversity...this is our collective desire.

(This is an approximate English translation of the PM's Mann Ki Baat originally delivered in Hindi).

Removing Gender Barriers in Financial Inclusion

Gender barriers affect how women, who form half or a statistical majority of India's population, access, use, and benefit from financial services. Women's experiences in the household, community, and workplace are different from that of men's, as determined by unfavorable gender roles. This has implications on the fundamental aspects of women's lives, including mobility, intra-household decision-making, access to resources and assets, which in turn affect their ability to use and benefit from formal financial services. Digital financial solutions can bridge the gender gap significantly by increasing women's financial independence and improving their economic participation by providing them with effective and affordable financial tools to save and borrow money, make and receive payments, manage risk, and plan for their old age and retirement. However, the current landscape of women's access and use of these tools shows a wide gender gap.

Here is where the Reserve Bank Innovation Hub (RBIH) comes into play. Inaugurated on March 24, 2022, the Reserve Bank Innovation Hub is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) set up to promote and facilitate an environment that accelerates innovation across the financial sector. RBIH intends to foster and evangelize innovation across the financial sector to enable a billion Indians access to suitable, sustainable financial products in a secure and frictionless manner. In addition, the Hub aims to create internal capabilities through applied research and expertise in the latest technology. The goal is to collaborate with financial sector institutions, policy bodies, the technology industry, and academic institutions and coordinate efforts to exchange ideas and develop prototypes related to financial innovations.

RBIH aims to serve as a focal point to position India as a global innovation hub for a network of financial services providers, FinTech innovation hubs, policymakers, technologists, academia, and the investor community. The network will ideate, incubate new capabilities, and create innovative and viable financial products and services for 1.3 billion Indians to help shape the future of the Indian financial sector. RBIH will identify challenges in the Indian financial system through applied research and extensive stakeholder consultation. Furthermore, it intends to address these challenges by ideating and piloting collaborative solutions that use the power of technology.

Women's Share in the Financial Sector

EN EXPLAINS

Gender equality and women's empowerment are now recognized as integral parts of sustainable growth and poverty reduction strategies. We cannot undermine gender issues in financial inclusion. Women form a disproportionately large share of the world's unbanked and underserved population. The RBI's annual Financial Inclusion Index (FI-Index) improved by 10.5 points from 2017 to 2021, indicating deepening financial inclusion in India. However, this improvement may not have translated into equal financial inclusion among women and men in India. Women lag behind men in several socio-economic indicators which affect their active usage of financial products and services building the gender gap. According to the World Economic Forum's Global Gender Gap Report 2021, India slipped 28 places to rank 140th in 2021. The gender gap widened from 66.8% in 2020 to 62.5% in 2021. In the context of women's economic participation, India's gender gap worsened by 3% in 2021.

The reasons behind exclusion are complex and often interwoven with vulnerabilities faced by women and underpinned by social norms. Government schemes have successfully brought a vast majority of women under the umbrella of formal financial services for the very first time, but regular uptake of these services by women still remains a challenge. Digital modes of enhancing financial inclusion for women by targeting self-help groups (SHGs) are still a work in progress.

RBIH Swa-Nari Program

The RBI Innovation Hub's Swa-Nari ('Swanirbhar Nari' meaning 'Self-Reliant Woman') program intends to encourage partners in the financial services ecosystem to create and produce smart, creative, and sustainable solutions for the underserved, low-and middle-income (LMI) women and women-owned enterprises in India. Based on the philosophy of "India for India" and encouraging more women-led FinTechs the program has two key objectives: - (i) Pivot the financial ecosystem to design affordable, sustainable, and suitable financial services and products for women. (ii) Enable and encourage more women-led FinTechs to create impact at scale through innovative, technology-led financial services for women users.

Changing how the market perceives women

The intersection of technology, financial services, and gender can catalyze change in how the market sees and serves women as end-users and contributes to economic growth. The rise of FinTech in India offers a promising opportunity for greater financial inclusion of women.

Encouraging solutions for women by women

The program intends to use this opportunity to encourage more women in technology fields to create solutions tailored to the needs of women users. This may prove to be a win-win situation to increase women users' uptake of financial products and services designed for their needs. Further, the program will increase the number of women on the supply side in FinTech creating these solutions.

Providing security net/pension plans

Most women in India, especially low-income women, tend to operate in the informal sector and thus generally lack a security net or retirement and pension plans. Women have longer life spans and usually outlive their spouses, thus, compounding their risk and aggravating the gender protection gap. Women frequently set aside small sums of money but often lack the means to convert their savings into sufficiently large funds sufficient to support them in old age. Women undertake most unpaid work, including elderly care and childcare, not reflected in any pension scheme.

Encouraging service providers to devise support mechanism for women

With the right mix of support from the RBI and public or private sector service providers, the program has the potential to impact the lives of more than 331 million adult women, including 13 million women-led enterprises and 7.45 million SHGs across the following thematic areas:

- Improve access, adoption, and usage of digital financial services among LMI women;
- Improve the readiness of service providers to offer relevant financial products;
- Enhance entrepreneurship and better support mechanisms for women enterprises.

Facilitating digital history for easy access to credit

Female entrepreneurs can build a

ACCELERATING FINANCIAL INCLUSION IN INDIA ...

January 2013 to change the mechanism of transferring subsidies, directly to the people through their bank accounts.

PM MUDRA Yojana: The credit needs of all stakeholders ranging from the budding entrepreneurs to the hard-working farmers have also been catered to through the Pradhan Mantri MUDRA Yojana (PMMY) launched in 2015. Under this scheme, collateral free loans of up to Rs 10 Lakh are extended by Member Lending Institutions i.e. banks, MFIs and NBFCs, with a view to bring those 'financially excluded' in the ambit of formal banking system. This has given wings to the dreams and aspirations of millions, along with a feeling of self-worth and independence. Banks and financial institutions have sanctioned more than Rs15 lakh crore to over 28.68 crore beneficiaries in the last six years.

Stand-Up India Scheme: The scheme facilitates bank loans between Rs. 10 lakh and Rs. 1 crore to at least one Scheduled Caste (SC) or Scheduled Tribe (ST) borrower and at least one woman borrower per bank branch for setting up a greenfield enterprise. As per the latest figures of Ministry of Finance, 134596 applications have been sanctioned with total loan amounting to Rs 30294.65 crore. The margin money requirement for loans under the Scheme has been reduced from 'upto 25%' to 'upto 15%' and activities allied to agriculture have been included in the scheme. In addition, the period of the scheme has also been extended to 2025.

Interventions for MSMEs and SMEs: The central government has well realized the truth that the highly viable and market principles based solution for financial inclusion lies in unleashing the untapped potential of the Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSME) and unorganized segments by improving their bankability and, thereby, their competitiveness as well. This is effectively a 'multiplier impact' model, with focus on inclusive economic development and progress. With this objective, as per Union budget 2022-23, Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme (ECLGS) will be extended until March 2023, and its guarantee cover will be increased by Rs.50,000 crore, bringing the total cover to Rs 5 lakh crore. The incentive to boost the adoption of FinTech by MSME and SME segment has enabled them to get easy access to banking and financial services. Government's focus on FinTech innovations and necessary support for them to continuously enhance their proposition, has paved way for future investments to support financial inclusion.

Insurance and Social Security Schemes for the Uncovered: The Pradhan Mantri Jeevan Jyoti Bima Yojana (PMJB) and Prime Minister Suraksha Bima Yojana (PMSBY) to help the vulnerable sections stay prepared in cases of unforeseen emergencies, the Atal Pension Yojana- another flagship social security scheme for workers of the unorganized sector, Sukanya Smridhi Yojana- a small scale savings scheme for the daughter's education and marriage etc. are important milestones achieved by the Government of India in the last few years in the direction of ensuring last mile delivery of financial inclusion agenda.

TECHNOLOGY IN FINANCIAL INCLUSION

In the present age of information and communication technology, it is more than obvious that apart from other measures, technology can be strongly leveraged to achieve the objective of financial inclusion and literacy. As David Brear, the founder and CEO at 11:FS aptly said, 'Technological Innovations will be the heart and blood of banking industry for many years to come and if big banks do not make the most of it, the new players from FinTech and large technology companies surely will.'

Thanks to technology, there has been massive improvement in deepening of digital financial services. The Jan Dhan, Aadhaar and Mobile (JAM) eco system has made a significant difference in the universe of financial inclusion. Further, several initiatives have been taken for the creation of enabling digital infrastructure at the ground level and accelerate the progress towards universalising digital payments in a convenient, safe, secure and affordable manner. The use of e-KYC to ease the account opening process, use of Aadhaar-enabled Payment system for interoperability, support for setting up Financial Literacy Centres, support for demonstrating banking technology (Mobile-van fitted with ATM), bringing all the Cooperative banks and Regional Rural Banks on CBS (Core Banking System) platform by NABARD, the financial technology players like FINO, EKO, Nokia, Integra, A Little World, have also been roped in the mission to be accomplished.

♦ Digital India: The Digital India initiative, coupled with a payment infrastructure, is laying the cornerstone for a digital economy. Keeping in mind the increasing willingness of people to use the internet and the rising data traffic in the country, an investment of $18.4 billion has been made to provide last mile internet connectivity, better access to government services, and development of IT skills, and provision of broadband internet access to 250,000 village-clusters. To promote digital transactions for personal consumption expenditure, two schemes viz. Lucky Grahak Yojana and Digi Vyapar Yojana were funded through Financial Inclusion Fund for consumers and merchants respectively.

♦ Aadhaar-enabled Payment System (AEPS): Developed by the National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI), AEPS is a payment service based on an individual's Aadhaar card (one can use Aadhaar card instead of debit or credit cards) which enables the owner of the card to make financial transactions such as transfer funds, make payments, deposit cash, make withdrawals, etc. The AEPS is bank agnostic and enables a customer to make transactions from any point of Sale or micro ATMs via using Aadhaar-based and biometric authentication. The project started in 2016 is likely to be the biggest disruptor in financial inclusion delivery, as innovations leveraging the Aadhaar Card are expected to assist in broad-basing the access and acceptance by financially excluded segments. The NITI Aayog has discussed that the use of Artificial Intelligence (AI) has an important part to play in the scheme as there is scope for creation of multilingual chatbot to aid customers, ensuring safe and secure payments, elimination of false declines, etc.

♦ Payments Banks: The new model of banking conceptualized by RBI is aimed at widening the spread of payment and financial services to small businesses, low-income households, and migrant labour workforce in secured technology-driven environment in remote areas of the country. With more than 500 million Indians owning smart mobile phones, leveraging its penetration to rural areas, has its advantages over traditional banking methods because of breaking down geographical constraints alongwith immediacy, security and efficiency. It offers an innovative low-cost channel to expand the reach of banking and payment services especially to the large section of rural mobile subscribers.

♦ V-SAT for Remote Areas: Since connectivity and power issues can badly affect banking services, particularly in remote areas, all Cooperative Banks in the North East Region (NER) and the Andaman and Nicobar (A&N) Islands have been made eligible for support for solar powered V-SATs with financing from the 'Financial Inclusion Fund'. V-SAT connectivity support is also extended to all banks for new branches being opened in identified Left Wing Extremism (LWE) affected districts, restricted to 7 branches per district.

FINANCIAL EDUCATION INITIATIVES

With greater financial inclusion, there is a need to enhance customer protection and financial education so that people continue to access the formal financial services without hesitation. Needless to add that financial education plays a vital role in creating demand side response by enabling greater awareness and access to appropriate financial products and services through regulated entities. Financial resilience of individuals and their families can also be strengthened through financial education. To achieve these multiple objectives, several steps have been taken.

National Strategy for Financial Education (NSFE 2020-2025) - The NSFE (2020-2025) has set an ambitious vision of creating a financially aware and empowered India. It focusses on various aspects of financial education across banking, insurance, pension and investments through greater role for financial institutions (both banks and non-banks), educational institutions, industry bodies and other stakeholders. In order to reach out to the various target groups [school children, teachers, young adults, women, new entrants at workplace/entrepreneurs (MSMEs), senior citizens, Divyang persons, illiterate people, etc.], innovative techniques and digital modes of delivery including targeted modules for specific categories of customers have been envisaged. Further, due emphasis has also been given to safe usage of digital financial services and enhancing awareness about grievance redressal measures. Keeping in view the importance of evidence-based policy making, evaluation methods to assess progress in financial education have also been identified as one of the strategic objectives. The strategy includes a '5 Cs' approach for dissemination of financial education through emphasis on development of relevant Content (including Curriculum in schools, colleges and training establishments); Capacity of the intermediaries who provide financial services and education; leveraging on the positive effect of Community led model for financial literacy through appropriate Communication Strategy; and enhancing Collaboration among various stakeholders.

National Centre for Financial Education (NCFE) - The NCFE has been set up by the four financial sector regulators as a (Not for Profit) Company to promote Financial Education across India for all sections of the population as per the National Strategy for Financial Education (NSFE). NCFE undertakes financial education campaigns across the country through seminars, workshops, conclaves, training programmes, campaigns, etc. to help people manage money more effectively and achieve financial wellbeing in the process.

Centre for Financial Literacy (CFL) Project - An innovative way to impart financial education through community approach. The CFL project has been conceptualised by the RBI in 2017 as an innovative and participatory approach to financial literacy at the Block level involving select banks and NGOs. Initially set up in 100 blocks on a pilot basis, the project is now being scaled up across the country to every block in a phased manner by March 2024. This was one of the announcements made on 4th December 2020 as part of the MPC (Monetary Policy Committee) statement. Going forward, the project is envisaged to change the paradigm of financial inclusion as well as education by ensuring greater involvement and receptibility of the community on the demand side so as to align with the expansion of institutional initiatives on the supply side.

In the last couple of years, the COVID-19 related nationwide lockdown and restrictions on mass gathering of people at various public places resulted in disruption in conducting conventional financial literacy camps. During this period, various approaches like using social media, mass media (including local TV channels, Radio), reaching out to local school education boards, training missions of the SHGs were undertaken across the country to continue dissemination of financial education.

IMPLICATIONS OF BUDGET INTERVENTIONS FACILITATING FI

Let us ponder over the implications of announcements made in the Union Budgets of last three years towards achieving the goal of rural financial inclusion. Knowledge transfer centers are being set up across new emerging sectors. A total outlay of Rs 8,000 crore has been allocated for over five years for The National Mission on Quantum Technology and Applications. The government's vision is to provide 100 percent digital access to all public institutions, banks as well as Anganwadi centres, health and wellness centres, post offices and other rural welfare centres. Fibre-to-home through BharatNet is aimed at linking 2,50,000 Gram Panchayats. Another step proposed towards combating financial exclusion is mobilizing more and more SHGs.

If we look at the Union Budget 2022-23, it is focused on digitalisation and financial inclusion more than ever. The introduction of 75 digital banking systems in 75 districts by scheduled commercial banks will empower the population digitally in a consumer-friendly manner, supporting inter-operability and financial inclusion. FinTech has immense potential to strengthen the underserved sections and to reach every nook and corner of the country. This will enable many consumers to experience digital banking for the first time at their convenience. Digital banking, lending, collection, and payment have effectively contributed to increasing financial inclusion and have been the key area of focus for the country. Digital debt collection is another key step towards

Empowering Nano Entrepreneurs

Shalini Pandey

Street vendors are nano-entrepreneurs and an integral part of city life. The ease of access and the relatively lesser prices of goods and services, make them popular amongst city dwellers, especially amongst the middle and lower class urban families. Given the demographic dividend in India and the lack of employment in the formal sector, many people turn towards the informal sector for livelihood. For the majority of urban poor, there is a natural inclination towards vending on streets due to the ease of initiating a business. These street vendors are vital to the urban economy because they do not just generate employment for themselves and make life easier for urban citizens, but also contribute towards developing a demand for goods and services for many businesses and enterprises. They are a valuable link for the supply chains.

It is evident that street vendors constitute the most visible self-employed group of workers in the informal sector. It is unfortunate that despite a substantial presence of street vendors across the country, our cities are not yet ready to acknowledge and accept them as a part of the urban fabric and provide them space for their businesses. Despite being a vital component of urban India, they are considered illegal, and disruptive of order in the city. The continuous denial of public space and recognition of their work and contribution to the economy leads to perpetuation of informality. This scenario is undergoing a slow change with the enactment of the landmark Street Vendors (Protection of Livelihood and Regulation of Street Vending) Act of 2014.

Street Vendors (Protection of Livelihood and Regulation of Street Vending) Act, 2014

The legislation outlined the major steps to be taken for the protection of livelihood rights, social security and regulation of urban street vending. The Act conceived a Town Vending Committee (TVC) as a participatory space for all stakeholders, including the street vendors, thus giving them the right for the first time to participate in the decision-making body at the city level. The TVC is responsible for conducting surveys in their cities to identify all the street vendors, and subsequently issue Certificates of Vending (CoV), and further, allot space in designated vending zones. The CoV is a document that provides recognition and legal protection to the vendor's business, and helps prevent unnecessary questioning and action by authorities such as the police and civic bodies.

Although this Act tried to resolve basic concerns of street vendors, in reality, its implementation remained patchy as many States/ UTs failed to notify the scheme and rules as required by the Act, as a result most street vendors continued facing harassment and struggled on a daily basis for earning their livelihood.

COVID-19 and the Livelihood Crisis

In spite of all those struggles, challenges and harassment, street vendors continued to operate in our urban spaces. Every day was a struggle with a new set of problems, but what they didn't see coming was an unprecedented pandemic and the consequent national lockdown. The world over, Covid-19 disrupted the economic activities. Everyone was hit hard by the subsequent lockdowns. The informal sector, having thrived on their daily income for survival, was hit the hardest. The street vending business is heavily dependent on the seamless movement of the public. The COVID-19 induced lockdowns severely limited this possibility and impacted the lives and livelihood opportunities of street vendors. The vendors did not have enough time to finish selling their perishable goods or safely store the non-perishables. Many of them suffered from non-recoverable losses and they had little savings and no back-up plan. Unable to survive, many street vendors who had migrated to larger urban areas chose to travel back to their home towns and villages.

As the lockdown started to relax, street vendors were in despair as they did not have any capital to buy goods to rebuild their businesses. Typically, street vendors rely on loans from family members, moneylenders and wholesalers, but the rates of interest are so high that it becomes a debt trap. It was difficult for street vendors to avail loans from banks as their occupation was not recognized in the absence of CoV, and they did not have necessary collaterals.

It was in response to this pressing need that the Government of India decided to launch the Prime Minister Street Vendor's AtmaNirbharNidhi (PM SVANidhi) Scheme as part of the AtmaNirbhar Bharat package, in an attempt to help street vendors resume their livelihood and bring them back on their feet.

PM SVANidhi: Mainstreaming Street Vendors

Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs (MoHUA) launched the Prime Minister Street Vendor's AtmaNirbharNidhi (PM SVANidhi) Scheme on June 01, 2020 with the aim of facilitating collateral free working capital loans to street vendors to restart their businesses, which were adversely impacted during the Covid-19 pandemic. The Scheme has the following features:

1. Facilitate collateral free working capital loan up to Rs 10,000, of 1 year tenure, with enhanced loan of Rs 20,000 and Rs 50,000 in the second and third tranches respectively, on repayment of earlier loans.
2. Incentivize regular repayment, through interest subsidy @ 7% per annum; and no penalty on early repayment of loan.

3. Reward digital transactions, by way of cash back up to Rs 1,200 per year.

The scheme was extended to all street vendors vending in urban areas, including those coming from the surrounding development/peri-urban/ rural areas and vending within the geographical limits of the Urban Local Bodies (ULBs).

Hassle-free Processes for Financial inclusion

Before the experiment of PMSVANidhi, it was very clear that lending institutions were hesitant to give loans to those in the informal economy as their professions are not formally recognized, and they were considered high credit risks. In addition, the very processes of lending are often hostile towards such applicants.

PM SVANidhi scheme solved the problem of recognition by defining and allowing Letter of Recommendation (LoR). Credit risk was addressed by guaranteeing a part of the borrowed debt in case of non-repayment. The Scheme is implemented not just through scheduled banks, but also through the entire range of financial institutions including Regional Rural Banks (RRBs), Small Finance Banks (SFBs), Cooperative Banks, Non-Banking Finance Companies (NBFCs), Micro Finance Institutions (MFIs), and even Self-Help Group (SHG) Banks.

The solution to easing the difficulties of banking processes for street vendors, and of the Lending Institutions (LI) themselves to handle the huge bulk of applications, was to develop a fully IT-based system. A dedicated portal for PM SVANidhi was built, onto which all LIs and all ULBs were linked, and an online loan application form was created. Street vendors could fill and submit loan applications online, proactively supported by staff of LIs or ULBs. A mobile application was also developed to further ease this process. KYC processes were also online (e-KYC) through integration with the extensive UIDAI database.

Not only application, but the entire process of loan sanctions and disbursements is also online. The immense success of this intervention is visible through the 45 lakh applications that have been received in just 18 months. Of these, about 33 lakh loans have been sanctioned till date. The ease and speed with which these vendors are integrated in the formal credit system and thereby in the formal economy is remarkable.

Providing Sustainable Financial Support to Vendors

Street vendors have traditionally been reliant on their families, friends, money lenders, and other such informal sources for loans. It is undeniable that the street vendors may not be able to meet all their financial needs with one loan and may require multiple rounds of working capital loans to help them expand their business, and for other needs. Keeping in mind this need for repeat loans, the PM SVANidhi scheme has made provisions for the sanction of higher loan amounts to street vendors who have made early or timely repayment of the first loan. A vendor, who has availed Rs. 10,000 and shown a good track record, would be eligible for a sum of Rs. 20,000 as their second loan, and further on repayment of second loan, be eligible for Rs. 50,000 as their third loan. The Scheme is designed to provide a sustainable financial model that caters to the needs of street vendors, not just during the pandemic, but also for their future needs.

Cultivating Good Repayment Practices

One of the biggest apprehensions that lenders face in providing loans to the informal sector is the fear of non-repayment. With loans being denied to the street vendors on this front, they get pushed down further into poverty.

The PM SVANidhi scheme navigates this concern by incentivizing the street vendors with a 7% interest subsidy that will be directly transferred to the beneficiaries account on timely repayment of EMIs. This design of the scheme encourages the vendors to make timely payments, and cultivates good repayment habits in street vendors.

Integration of Street Vendors into the Digital Economy

Facilitating street vendors in making and receiving digital transactions is a key feature of the scheme. At the time of disbursement of SVANidhi loans, every street vendor is provided and trained with QR code. More than 25 lakh street vendors are now empowered to use digital payments. A complete change to such digital platforms may not happen overnight, but the seeds have been sown. It is heartening to know that PM SVANidhi beneficiaries have conducted crores of digital transactions.

As PM SVANidhi is intended to bring vendors into the formal financial system, it is also the perfect interface to introduce them to the tool of digital payments. Empowering vendors to make and receive payments digitally also increases the possibility of digital payments in public spaces, gradually moving away from the reliance on physical currency. This is also in line with the Government's vision of 'Digital India' which intends to build a digitally empowered India. The use of digital payments also creates a trail of transactions, which can help with establishing the street vendor's credit history, opening up further financial possibilities.

Expanding Customer Base for Street Food Vendors

Street vendors constantly adapt to accommodate the changes in demand, and shift their business with the season. Street food culture is an integral part of Indian cities. With the lockdown, there has been a shift in purchasing habits. More people prefer the ease of ordering online and having goods delivered to their doorstep. People avoided eating out, and preferred ordering food into the comfort and safety of their homes. Realizing this, a new initiative launched under PMSVANidhi in partnership with food-delivery companies like Swiggy and Zomato to offer a platform for street food vendors to expand their customer base immensely. Menus are digitized and FSSAI training and licensing is done for the vendors, and they are trained in using the mobile applications. Presently, thousands of such street food vendors have been on-boarded on these e-commerce platforms and successfully growing their businesses.

PM SVANidhi: More than Easy Loan

PM SVANidhi was not designed to be a mere injection of cash to enable street vendors to meet immediate necessities to restart their business. The Scheme regards street vendors as an essential part of the economy and recognizes the need to formalize them, and build a supportive environment to help them flourish. Apart from the loan itself, the Scheme has several parallel initiatives to make this a possibility. PM SVANidhi scheme should not be seen from the perspective of extending only loans to street vendors, but should also be seen as an instrument for outreach to street vendors and their families' for their holistic development and socio-economic upliftment.

The Government through this scheme has been able to address the needs of this crucial sector. It is a pioneer initiative and a successful attempt by the government towards positively impacting the street vending ecosystem at many levels. Few key impacts are given as under:-

- (i) The Scheme nudged State/UTs for notification of Scheme and Rules under Street Vendors Act, 2014. The Street Vendors (Protection of Livelihood and Regulation of Street Vending) Act, 2014 lays down the outline for protecting and empowering street vendors, but in reality, its implementation remained hollow without States/UTs notifying Rules and Schemes under the Act. The moment of need created in the wake of COVID-19 made PM SVANidhi an extremely sought-after scheme. Only street vendors in States which have notified the Rules and Scheme under Street Vendors Act, 2014 were eligible for the PM SVANidhi scheme. As a result of this condition, all States and Union Territories have since met this requirement. In addition to being eligible for the PM SVANidhi loan, street vendors throughout the country are now protected under all the provisions of the Street Vendors Act.
- (ii) Ensuring Inclusivity of Street Vendors: For years, street vendors have been contesting for space and recognition from Urban Local Bodies (ULB). The Street Vendors Act of 2014 provides for conducting surveys for the identification of street vendors in the city and issuance of Certificates of Vending to them. However, with many States failing to notify the Scheme, it is disappointing that many ULBs have not even conducted the identification survey of street vendors, so far. ULBs have been reluctant in conducting surveys, possibly because of the unwillingness to take responsibility for this informal sector and to provide them recognition, space, ease of doing business and social security. With the lack of cooperation from ULBs, it became essential to eliminate the top-down approach for recognition of street vendors, and develop a demand-based model. Under the PM SVANidhi scheme, street vendors who were in need of loans could now approach the ULBs. The scheme ensures that no vendor's request is turned down by the ULBs due to lack of recognition, including street vendors who have been left out from previous surveys or those belonging to the surrounding development/peri-urban / rural areas and vending within the geographical limits of the ULBs.

- (iii) Letter of Recommendation (LoR) Concept: For the purpose of including all these left out vendors to get the benefits of the scheme, the concept of Letter of Recommendation (LoR) was introduced in the scheme, which is to be issued by the ULB/Town Vending Committee (TVC) after verifying the proof of vending submitted by the vendors. A stand-out feature of this initiative is the range of documents and evidence that can be used by a street vendor to establish their identity, taking it beyond the confines of the survey, prescribed in the Street Vendors Act, 2014. PMSVANidhi expands the option of such documents which includes:

a. Several States had prepared lists for distribution of benefits to the urban poor, including street vendors, during the COVID-19 lockdown. Street vendors on these lists were directly made eligible to access the PM SVANidhi scheme.

b. Vendors could present proof of membership in Street Vendor Associations. In fact, through this provision, affiliation of vendors to such organizations has been formally acknowledged for the first time.

c. Paperwork generated from previous loan applications which mention the vendor's profession could also be used.

d. A vendor could even use challans from penalties paid for vending activities. These challans, a symbol of tyranny signifying the double humiliation of financial loss as well as physical eviction can now be used as instruments for their empowerment.

e. Understandably, a potential beneficiary may not have kept these pieces of paper safe. To tackle this, a demand-based enquiry is offered as a solution, where vendors may request and a ULB may conduct an enquiry to verify their claim.

With all these new options, PM SVANidhi has covered practically all avenues of identifying street vendors, and enabling their access to this scheme. The success of LoR concept can be assessed from the fact that in only 18 months of the implementation of PM SVANidhi, over 31 lakh* applications for LoR have been received and over 29 lakh* LoRs have been approved and these street vendors became eligible to apply for the loan under PM SVANidhi. Given that over 45 lakh loan applications have been received, we can say that without the initiative of LoR, huge chunk of the street vendors would have been denied a chance at rebuilding their lives through the loans offered through the scheme.

Building Safety Net: SVANidhi se Samridhhi

Street vendors, as informal workers, do not have access to formal social security measures. They are a highly vulnerable population as self-employed poor. In fact, they often resort to borrowing to meet needs such as childrens' education, health-care, etc. When emergencies such as illness or accidents occur, they reach out to sources such as trade unions or money lenders, and can end up in severe debt. This is despite the existence of many welfare schemes designed by the Government for the urban poor and those in the informal sector, as there are often gaps in actually identifying and reaching these beneficiaries.

PM SVANidhi was conceptualized for the holistic upliftment of street vendors, and the importance of addressing socio-economic needs of the beneficiaries such as access to health care, insurance benefits, maternity benefits etc. was understood. With this in mind, 'SVANidhi se Samridhhi' was envisioned as an additional component of the scheme.

SVANidhi se Samridhhi initiative is designed to build a safety net for the beneficiaries' families so that they need not rely on the informal borrowings for their other needs. It aims to link the beneficiaries and their families to existing socio-economic welfare schemes of the Government of India, targeting their holistic development and socio-economic upliftment. Eight schemes offered by five different Ministries have been identified for this. These schemes are PM Jeevan Jyoti Bima Yojana, PM Suraksha Bima Yojana, Jan Dhan Yojana, One Nation One Ration Card, PM Shram Yogi

Maandhan Yojana, Registration under BoCW, Janani Suraksha Yojana, PMMatru Vandana Yojana.

The street vendors who have received PM SVANidhi loans, and their immediate family members, are surveyed by ULB officials with a specially developed IT tool. Information on housing and assets, migration, education and skills, income, aspirations, etc. are collected. Based on this information, the IT tool automatically identifies welfare scheme eligibility. The eligible vendors and families are invited to city-level camps held every month, where functionaries from the various concerned Ministries assemble and enable application and sanction of these welfare schemes. In effect, a single-window system for street vendors and their families to access these scheme benefits.

So far, socio economic profiling for over 25 lakh PMSVANidhi beneficiaries and their family members have been completed and over 21.5 lakh benefits of various welfare schemes have been extended to them in 125 cities. This unique initiative is being expanded to all cities shortly.

The achievements of this component are two-fold: a socioeconomic database of street vendors is developed, and a convergence of welfare schemes is brought about; both one-of-its-kind attempts and accomplishments.

PMSVANidhi is a first of its kind scheme targeting the concerns and welfare of street vendors in a holistic way. The scheme is not only addressing the immediate requirement emerging from the pandemic for providing support for resumption of their livelihoods, but also providing a package with various related initiatives for their continuous growth and overall socio-economic development. The scheme has taken a step forward for providing inclusive development for street vendors. It is high time that our cities step up their efforts to recognize the due significance of street vendors in our economy and daily life, and expedite the implementation of the scheme and related initiatives, while simultaneously addressing the existing challenges in providing space to these vendors in cities. Such a proactive approach may open up various opportunities of livelihood for urban poor in our cities and could be a way to handle the complexities of urban poverty.

CIVIL SERVICES INTERVIEW : MAIN ...

examination and submit to the UPSC. This will be made available to each member of the interview board. The members take keen interest in reading the information supplied by you in your DAF and read it as if they are reading your horoscope! This is quite natural because your DAF is going to give them a fair idea of who you are, where you come from, what your parents do, which school/college you have attended, which subjects you have studied, what has been your performance in the examination etc. Also, your DAF will reveal your hobbies, extra-curricular activities, prizes, trophies you have won. Finally, your past job profile, if any, is also mentioned by you in the DAF, and that would make the members interested in your job profile, your job responsibilities, your ways of handling the assigned job and so on. Really speaking, DAF engages the board very well because it directly concerns you. Your entire personality is reflected by your DAF because it carries almost every relevant information about you. Therefore, defending the information given in the DAF can be quite challenging. In fact, many candidates, who do not appear before the board without much deliberation on their DAF, flounder when confronted with questions regarding the information furnished. Do not forget this: you have yourself furnished the information in your DAF, and it is expected of you to sound genuine. To take an example, suppose you have mentioned that you have worked for an NGO which looks after destitute children, you will have to convince the board that you had a real, genuine interest in working for the destitute children and you did not join the NGO just to embellish your bio data. If you really did not have deep commitment to the cause of the destitute children, it will be exposed before the board for sure, and you will be badly caught on the wrong foot. Similarly, if there is a gap of one or two years in your educational degrees, you cannot give them a fabricated excuse for this. It is always safer to speak the truth. If you tell any lies, you just won't be able to defend it. Therefore, learn to defend your DAF well with honesty.

II. International Issues:

Questions on current international issues are bound to be raised during the interview. More so this year, because so much is happening in the world currently. No matter what is your academic background, you will be asked about how you look at the important developments in international relations. If an aspirant has opted for the IFS (Indian Foreign Service), then he/she will have to justify his/her choice by showing a keen interest in international issues.

Likely Questions: Conduct of foreign policy during the Covid-19 pandemic, relations with immediate neighbours under the Neighborhood First Policy, India and its extended neighbours-West Asia, and Central Asia, India's bilateral relations with its South Asian neighbours as well as with China, USA, Russia, Israel, Iran, EU, UK, France, Australia. India and the Multilateral Organizations like the UN, WTO, IMF, IBRD. Indian nuclear policy with special reference to no first use policy. India-Africa and India-Latin America relations, India's Act East Policy, Act Far East Policy, Arctic Policy, problems of Indian Diaspora. In the context of Russian invasion of Ukraine, a number of questions shall be raised about India's stand on the crisis, India- Russia relations, Russia - Ukraine relations, emerging cold war and the shape of a future world order.

Preparation Strategy: Apart from reading leading newspapers, one should consult some latest books on Indian foreign policy. Journals like Frontline, The Economist, IDSA journal will be helpful in preparing on international issues.

Important World Issues:

Russia- NATO relations, Russia-US rivalry, US-China rivalry, Russia-China relations, Indo-Pacific Policy and Quad.

III. Governance Issues:

Minimum Government and maximum governance, issues of corruption, performance of the governing institutions like the executive, bureaucracy, reforms in the Civil Services, reforms in the CBI, CVC, NHRC, administrative tribunals, issues like deputation of Civil Services officers from the states to the Centre. New schemes/ programs launched in the latest budget. New acts passed by the Parliament and controversies around them, farmers agitation and farm laws, anti-conversion laws. Various schemes and programs being run by government and their effectiveness. Difference between governance and good governance, issue area in Centre-State relations.

Preparation Strategy: A close look at the newspaper reports on challenging governance issues, Annual Reports of various Ministries, Economic Survey, ARC-II Report on governance, PRS India website provides good inputs on governance issues. Important legislation on various aspects of governance must be remembered well.

IV. Social Issues: Women related issues are always important and bound to be raised during the interview. Emphasis should be given on the following: Women safety, female participation in labour force, women empowerment, marital rape criminalization issue, raising the age of marriage, hijab issue, atrocities on Dalits, problems of hunger and nutrition, trafficking in human beings, patriarchy and Indian society, problems of migrants, evil of drugs, liquor.

Preparation Strategy: Apart from reading newspaper articles, one must acquaint oneself with government interventions in the social sector by reading annual reports of Ministry of Women and Child Development, Social Justice Ministry, Health Ministry etc.

V. Controversial Issues: Since many issues on which questions are framed are of controversial nature, taking a stand on them becomes a huge challenge for the candidates. The solution lies in presenting both sides of the issue, and then prescribing a balanced stand. One should never display personal bias on the controversial issues. Rather, a national perspective i.e., public interest, should be kept in mind while answering such questions. Caution must be taken not to criticise the government directly for its failures. However, if there is any deficiency in government action or policy, one must be frank enough to give suggestion for improvement and a better way of handling of the issue by the government. No harm in fair criticism of government policies with a view to improvement in governance. Likely controversial issues that may invite questions at the interview: India's stand on Ukraine at the UN, problems of Indian medical students studying in Ukraine, failure of farmers laws, hijab issue, marital rape issue, raising the age of girls' marriage, independence of CBI, transfer of Civil Servants from States to the Centre.

Preparation Strategy: One should study the main arguments on the controversy and formulate a stand that he/she can defend well before the board. One can take any stand on the issue provided there is sound logic to defend it. The interview board will appreciate good, mature arguments offered by the candidate.

VI. Make Your Presence Felt:

Apart from preparing on the above mentioned topics, it is also important as to how you project your personality during the interview session. A pleasant personality with a smiling face, depicting self-confidence through your body language, being courteous and respectful to the board members, not interrupting them while they are speaking, making eye contact with all the members, sitting in a proper posture in the chair, sounding genuine and authentic all the time- these are the ingredients of a good interview. Always project your authentic, real personality and don't try to project what you are not. At all times during the interview session, display energy, enthusiasm, and keenness to listen to the members. If a member cracks a light joke, smile with him. If a member tries to correct your answer, accept it humbly and thank him. Don't feel guilty before the board if you do not know something. It is only human not to know everything. Leave the interview room with a smile and wishing the board members.

ACCELERATING FINANCIAL INCLUSION IN ...

digitization. When customers are empowered by digital experiences specific to their needs, the debt collection process becomes seamless and pain-free. The digitalized debt collection approach can aid in facilitating financial inclusion by providing intelligent personalized experiences with options to resolve debt on their terms. Debt collections have traditionally been a labour-intensive task and have always fallen short of expectations. However, with advancement in technologies like Artificial Intelligence and Machine Learning, the debt collections space can evolve tremendously. Such technologies can assist in reaching out to customers through contextual nudges in their preferred language, easing up the debt collections process. Additionally, post offices have come on the core banking system enabling financial inclusion and access to accounts through net banking, mobile banking, ATMs, and online transfer of funds between post office accounts and bank accounts.

CONCLUSION

India has taken massive strides towards financial inclusion. The proportion of people joining the formal financial system in terms of owning an account at financial institutions has more than doubled since 2011. More than 80% of adult Indians have bank accounts, according to the latest Global Findex Database. These are the creditable achievements for the country. However, getting a unique identity, having a bank account and using digital payments are just the foundations of financial inclusion. Now these basics have been addressed, the government and private sector must take the next steps to build a superstructure of economic prosperity. The following vital steps need to be taken by all the stakeholders for achieving this ambitious yet the most important objective of true financial inclusion:-

- ♦ Financial firms must understand the market and structure products accordingly. Since agricultural income is seasonal and lumpy, while lending to a farmer, they need to structure a loan product where the repayment cycle is seasonal and not monthly.
- ♦ In a country as vast and diverse as India, deeper understanding of the market can only come if firms have a widespread distribution and they recruit locally the ones who are familiar with the cultural and economic nuances of the community in which they work.

- ♦ Partnership between the government and providers of various financial products is the need of the hour so that risks and rewards of working with marginal populations are shared.
- ♦ This campaign for financial literacy will need a multipronged, bottoms-up approach. RBI and banks should coordinate with institutions such as State Education Boards (SEBs), Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE), University Grants Commission (UGC) and All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE), to include Financial Inclusion as a mandatory subject at different levels right from school to higher levels of education, so that the next generation of students become aware of the significance of nurturing good loan repayment culture and the society becomes digitally savvy.

- ♦ NGOs, corporate sector, banks, NBFCs and government departments currently engaged in FI should be persuaded to increase thrust. Unless using FI infrastructure becomes a mass agenda, the real benefit cannot accrue to the society. Needless to emphasize, global research has already linked poverty alleviation to FI brought about through financial awareness. Having invested huge sums of money in building FI infrastructure, the next wave of inclusion should be to prompt beneficiaries to use their access to financial services for improving their economic and social well-being.

Blessing Means...

Brought to earth for cooking,
I don't think so! But ...
Magical breakfast on table,
It's no magic. You know what it is.
God blessed me a mother,
Having a child, a blessing,
But even bigger one
Is having a mom.
I hate it when someone says,
"She isn't educated."
My reply, "She is the wisest."
The nearest God,
She gave me a life.
And not to make mine a mess,
Lived hers less.
If priceless as a verb means,
"Bringing someone to existence"
And if priceless as a noun means,
"Everything"
Then, I would say she is ...
Priceless!

These transactions also become an increasingly important source of information for credit decisions in the absence of credit history. Providers can use alternate algorithms to underwrite credit based on digital transactions for women entrepreneurs who want to raise capital from the formal financial market. Digitization can also pave the way for alternative collateral methods for women-led businesses.
