NATIONAL APPRENTICESHIP PROMOTION SCHEME SKILLING YOUNG INDIA

BS Purkayastha

Time and again, we hear the phrase 'India's demographic dividend.' Accounting for the world's largest young population (with over 600 million people under the age of 25 years), India is one of the fastest-growing economies in the world. Millennials account for nearly half of the country's working population and will continue to remain the largest chunk of the Indian workforce for the next ten years. By 2030, India is set to have the largest working age population in the world. This young population is the country's demographic dividend - on whom the nation is relying while striving to become an advanced economy.

However, in reality, a significant chunk of the youth is under-skilled, under-employed and earns low wages. Many reside in the hinterlands where access to skills training as well as livelihood opportunities is limited. To optimally leverage this demographic dividend, India needs to find ways to equip its manpower with appropriate skills so as to help them find employment as well as meet the demand from the industries while also seizing global opportunities by supplying talent to the global job market.

To skill, reskill and upskill the country's youth, apprenticeship training has to become a participatory movement with employers, trainers, and facilitators, all on the same page.

Importance of Apprenticeship

Employability of India's young population can be raised only through quality skill training. Apprenticeship training is one of the most efficient ways to develop skilled manpower for industry by using training facilities available in the establishments without putting any extra burden on the exchequer to set up training infrastructure. After undergoing apprenticeship training, candidates become equipped to easily adapt to the industrial environment.

However, the performance of Apprenticeship Training is not commensurate to the size and rate of growth of the Indian economy. There are a large number of establishments where training facilities are available but these facilities are not utilised because such establishments express their inability to come under the purview of the Apprentices Act, 1961 citing lack of support from the government. On-the-job-training/practical training provisions are available to the employers, but they are not able to engage apprentices as they do not have basic facilities. Then, many employers are not interested to outsource basic training to other training providers as they have to bear the basic training cost to be paid to the basic training providers and also the stipend payable to apprentices during the basic training period.

Role of National Apprenticeship Promotion Scheme (NAPS)

It is in this backdrop that the government launched the National Apprenticeship Promotion Scheme (NAPS) in August, 2016 providing for financial support to the industry undertaking apprenticeship programmes under the Apprentices Act. The main objective of the scheme is to promote apprenticeship training and to increase the engagement of apprentices, that stood at 2.3 lakh in August, 2016 with a cumulative target of training 50 lakh youth during FY 2016-17 to FY 2019-20. While the target was set to provide apprenticeship training to 5 lakh youth

There are four GS (General Studies) papers for the UPSC Civil Services (Main) Examination. In the previous article, preparation strategy for GS-I and GS-II were discussed in detail. This article seeks to decode the syllabus of GS-III and GS-IV papers and offer a sound preparation strategy for the same. Each GS paper is interdisciplinary as well as multi-disciplinary by nature. This is true of GS paper III and IV as well. There are as many as six distinct topics under GS-III to make it a truly multi-disciplinary paper. These are - Economy, Agriculture, Environment and Ecology, Disaster Management, Internal Security, and Science and Technology. Thus, of all the four GS papers, GS-III is most diverse in nature. As is clear from these subjects, GS-III is very dynamic in terms of the topics to be studied. Most of the questions are current and application based. For example, the rising inflation, its impact on economy, measures to curb inflation can be a topic for this year's mains exam. Similarly, on environment, the forest fires, heat waves, floods occurring in all parts of the world and their connection with climate change can be asked. The point to note here is that one should take into account these latest developments relating to the syllabus of GS-III paper rather than studying just their traditional aspects. As already mentioned, there are six different disciplines in GS-III paper and striking a balance in their preparation, therefore, is a key challenge. In other words, one may end up reading only economy and agriculture, and leaving a great portion of the other areas like internal security, science and technology etc. Therefore, each small part of the syllabus must be carefully looked into by preparing a list of topics. A careful perusal of last several years' question papers of UPSC helps to make a comprehensive list of topics for GS-III paper. Needless to add that the best sources to find these topics are newspapers, journals which comment on latest developments on economy, ecology, science etc. Besides, govt. reports, especially annual reports of ministries of agriculture, forest, environment and climate change, department of space, need to be consulted. All government reports are available online and are easily accessible.

NATIONAL APPRENTICESHIP PROMOTION SCHEME ...

during 2019-20, 3,61,063 apprentices were trained which is 72.21% of the target set. With NAPS providing impetus, in FY 21-22, altogether 5,80,137 youths were engaged in apprenticeship training, according to the government of India's apprenticeshipindia portal (<https://www.apprenticeshipindia.gov.in/>). The cumulative number of apprentices engaged stood at 11,11,038 with 75,194 engaged in FY22-23 (till April 30, 2022), as per the portal. The target under the scheme for FY22-23 has been fixed at 10 lakh apprentices. With the thrust given by the Ministry towards apprenticeship training through reforms (facilitation and process simplifications), awareness workshops, continuous engagement with establishments / employers, Apprenticeship Mela, and public reach out to create awareness about apprenticeship training among the students and the establishments, the number of apprentices increased from around 2.90 lakh in FY 2020-21 to over 5.8 lakh in FY 2021-22 and expenditure from Rs120 crore in FY 2020-21 to Rs 217 crore in FY 2021-22. There are currently a little over 1,41,473 establishments / companies registered on the apprenticeship portal, out of which only 28,352 are currently engaging apprentices.

NAPS: Financial Components

- (A) Sharing of 25% of prescribed stipend subject to a maximum of Rs 1500 per month per apprentice with the employers. The stipend support is not given during the basic training period for fresher apprentices in sequential training. However, stipend support for fresher apprentices during basic training is allowed in case Basic Training (BT) & On the Job Training (OJT) is delivered in simultaneous mode.
- (B) Sharing of basic training cost of Rs 7,500 for 3 months / 500 hrs for the registered Basic Training Providers who impart training to the fresher candidates. Where the Basic Training & OJT is being done simultaneously, the payment will be made at the rate of Rs 15 per hour at the end of each month.

NAPS: Eligibility & Other Details

Apprenticeship Training consists of Basic Training and On-the-Job-Training/ Practical Training at workplace in the industry. The basic training is an essential component of apprenticeship training for those fresher candidates who have not undergone any institutional training/skill training before taking up on-the-job-training/practical training. Basic Training is imparted to the fresher apprentices for acquiring a reasonable ability to handle instruments /machineries/ equipment independently prior to being moved to shop floor/work area for On-the-Job Training. It usually accounts for 20-25% of the duration of the overall apprenticeship training but can vary depending on the specific requirement of the curriculum. On-the-Job Training is performed in the establishments and undertaken by the establishment. Basic Training will be allowed through online mode. Flexible and hybrid models of delivering Basic Training programmes are encouraged by the Directorate General of Training (DGT) and Sector Skill Councils (SSCs).

Under each of the two broad apprenticeship categories for designated trades and optional trade, there can be following categories of apprentices:

- (i) Trade apprentices who have passed out of ITIs
- (ii) Graduate apprentices who are graduates in engineering or non-engineering courses
- (iii) Technician apprentices who have passed out of Polytechnics
- (iv) Technician(vocational) apprentices who have passed out of a 10th /12th vocational training course

- (vii) Apprentices from amongst those who are class V pass and above who are not covered under any of the afore-mentioned categories but meet the educational/technical qualifications as specified in the course curriculum.

NAPS: Basic Training Providers (BTPs)

- (i) National Skill Training Institutes (NSTI) and National Skill Training Institutes for Women, NSTI(W)
- (ii) Government/Private Industrial Training Institutes (ITIs) having grade 1 and above affiliated to Directorate General of Training (DGT)

NAPS: Evaluation

At the end of training, the evaluation is done jointly by the industry and the Directorate General of Training (DGT). After completion of Apprenticeship Training, an evaluation through All India Trade Test (AITT) for National Apprenticeship Certificate (NAC) is conducted twice in a year. AITT is a skill-oriented evaluation done by the industry and DGT.

NAPS: Digital Intervention

The apprenticeship portal (<https://www.apprenticeshipindia.gov.in>) has been specially developed to execute apprenticeship program digitally. The portal facilitates registration of establishments/candidates, generation of contracts and reimbursements under NAPS.

Reform Measures

The Ministry of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship (MSDE) has taken many steps in consultation with various stakeholders to simplify the processes and revise the guidelines of the NAPS to bring about an increase in the number of establishments and apprentices. Skill training has been extended to all 13 sectors covered under Production-Linked Incentive Scheme.

MSDE has brought significant reforms to the apprenticeship rules to drive greater participation in the Apprenticeship training in the country. These reforms include:

- Upper limit for engaging apprentices increased
- Size limit of an establishment with mandatory obligation to engage apprentices lowered from 40 to 30
- Payment of stipend for 1st year has been fixed rather than linking it to minimum wages
- 10% to 15% hike in stipend for 2nd and 3rd year to apprentices
- Duration of apprenticeship training for Optional Trade can be from 6 months to 36 months
- The industry has an option to design and implement their own apprenticeship training

NAPS: Direct Transfer of Benefits

One of the most far-reaching developments is the announcement in July 2022 that NAPS will now be a part of Direct Beneficiary Transfer (DBT) scheme, providing direct government benefits to all apprentices. Earlier companies used to pay apprentices the entire amount of stipend and then seek reimbursement from the government. With the launch of the DBT scheme, the government will directly transfer its contribution to bank accounts of apprentices through National Skill Development Corporation (NSDC) 25% of the stipend payable up to Rs. 1500 per month.

Lauding the initiative, Union Minister of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship, and Education, Shri Dharmendra Pradhan, said the first set of apprentices have received stipend subsidy in their accounts through. This is not only a boost to apprenticeship but also takes us closer to realising the potential of Skill India.

The government is working pro-actively with industry including the MSME sector to facilitate a ten-fold increase in apprenticeship opportunities in the country by 2022-2023. It has been encouraging private sector enterprises to offer training to suitable candidates under the Apprentice Act. The monthly Pradhan Mantri National Apprenticeship Mela under the NAPS has been playing a big role in promoting the MSDE's various skilling and apprentice programmes. Under the initiative, the aim is to support hiring of more than one lakh apprentices and assist employers in tapping the right talent and develop it further with training and providing practical skillsets. Participating companies in the PM National Apprenticeship Melas have the chance to meet potential apprentices on a single platform and choose applicants on-the-spot. Furthermore, small-scale enterprises with at least four employees can hire apprentices during the event. Potential applicants will receive several benefits by attending the Apprenticeship Mela. They have a huge opportunity to get apprenticeship offered on the spot and receive direct industry exposure. A credit bank idea will also be added shortly, with depositaries of various credits collected by learners for future academic courses.

Every month, the apprenticeship mela is hosted wherein selected individuals receive a monthly stipend in accordance with government criteria for gaining new skills, giving them the opportunity to earn while they learn. Apprentices' stipends are paid online. The candidates get certificates, recognized by National Council for Vocational Education and Training (NCVET), increasing the chances of their employability after the training. Individuals can register for the Mela by visiting <https://dgt.gov.in/appmela2022/> or <https://www.apprenticeshipindia.gov.in/> and to find the Mela's nearest location. Two Pradhan Mantri National Apprenticeship Melas (PMNAM) have been conducted during the month of June-2022 and July-2022 since its inception. The Melas were conducted in 195 districts / locations in June 2022, and 212 districts / locations in July 2022. A total of 69,983 candidates participated in the two Melas. Post-Mela, 52,873 apprenticeship contracts were generated.

Azadi ki Rail Gadi aur Stations

India is celebrating 'Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav' to celebrate and commemorate 75 years of Independence and the glorious history of its people, culture and achievements. Launched in March 2021, the Mahotsav is bringing alive stories of unsung freedom heroes and of places associated with the freedom movement.

In July this year, an interesting endeavour was undertaken by the Indian Railways: 'Azadi Ki Rail Gadi aur Stations'. During this week-long celebration, 75 important railway stations and 27 trains were identified on the basis of their role in and association with the movement for India's independence. Some of these trains, decked up with historical facts about them, were flagged off by families of freedom fighters from their originating stations.

In all these 75 stations across 24 States, besides lighting up and decorations, events such as Nukkad Natak in the local language, light and sound shows, and display of video films/patriotic songs were organised. Family members of freedom fighters from the respective local areas were also invited to the stations to share their stories.

Let's have a look at some of the stations.

1. Kakori Railway Station, Uttar Pradesh

The names of bravehearts like Ram Prasad Bismil, Chandrashekhar Azad, and Ashfaqullah Khan are associated with this station located near Lucknow. On August 9, 1925, the brave revolutionaries had displayed their might to the British by looting the treasury of the British being carried by train.

2. Vanchi Maniyachchi Junction, Tamil Nadu

Vanchi Maniyachchi Junction railway station is a junction railway station in Maniyachchi of Thoothukudi district in Tamil Nadu. The station is named after freedom fighter Vanchinathan, who on June 17, 1911 assassinated Robert Ashe, the British district collector of Tirunelveli.

3. Mahadevappa Mailara Railway Station, Karnataka

In 2020, the Haveri station was renamed after Shri Mahadevappa Mailara, a freedom fighter and revolutionary from Haveri district. At the age of 18, he accompanied Mahatma Gandhi on the Dandi March and was the only representative from the then Mysore state to take part in the march. Mahadevappa sacrificed his life for the service of the society and liberation of the country.

4. Gomoh Junction, Jharkhand

The junction was renamed as Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose Gomoh railway station in 2009. This was done to honour Netaji's Mahanishkraman, or the Great Escape — his long journey from Gomoh Railway Station out of the British Empire in 1941 on board the Kalka Mail. This journey also marked the departure of Subhas and advent of Netaji in the pages of history.

5. Vidurashwatha Railway Station, Karnataka

Vidurashwatha, known as the 'Jallianwala Bagh' of South India, holds the record of martyrdom of 35 freedom fighters who were indiscriminately fired by the British Police. On April 25, 1938, a group had congregated to organise satyagraha against colonial rule. Similar to what happened at Jallianwala Bagh, police fired indiscriminately at the group.

6. Satara Railway Station, Maharashtra

The Satara Parallel government in Maharashtra from August 1943 to May 1946 against British rule was a legendary chapter in the glorious freedom struggle of India. It was an armed offshoot of the Quit India Movement. Kranti Singh Nana Patil played a crucial role in establishing the parallel government.

The NAPS replaces the earlier Apprentice Protsahan Yojana (APY) which prescribed sharing 50% of stipend to the apprentices by the central government for the first two years of training. The scheme envisaged training to be imparted to one lakh apprentices by March 2017.

Difference Between NAPS and NATS

The NAPS is not to be confused with the Department of Higher Education (DHE), Ministry of Education's (MoE) National Apprenticeship Training Scheme (NATS). There is a clear demarcation in target group of beneficiaries. DHE, MoE administers the apprenticeship scheme of freshly passed-out engineering graduates, diploma holders, those students who are studying degree and diploma level courses in sandwich programme of engineering, and general stream graduates while MSDE administers apprenticeship program for the rest of the categories of apprentices.

Conclusion

The National Policy of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship, 2015, launched by the Prime Minister on July 15, 2015, recognises apprenticeship as a means to provide gainful employment to skilled workforce with adequate compensation. The Ministry of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship has also taken several efforts to increase the number of apprentices hired by enterprises in the country. The aim is to fill the gap in supply and demand for skilled workforce and meet the aspirations of the Indian youth through gaining on-the-job training and securing better opportunities for employment.

The reforms undertaken by the government have now started reaping results. However, COVID-19 has hampered the growth of apprenticeship. Lack of awareness among companies is another reason for lower targets achieved in apprenticeship training. With normalcy returning and economic activities in full swing, the apprenticeship programmes are gaining momentum again. The government through various awareness programmes is now trying to create a buzz about apprenticeship ecosystem. The government is advocating Apprenticeship Training to create awareness amongst industrial units through extensive outreach programme by conducting workshops in various industrial regions. The Pradhan Mantri National Apprenticeship Melas can play a stellar role in this. At the same time, monitoring is required to ascertain the status of implementation of the scheme. About 5% to 10% of the total beneficiary establishments under the scheme are subject to actual physical verification every year by the concerned authority. Perhaps this can be increased so as to ensure better participation from both the private and public sectors.

To skill, reskill and upskill young India, increase per capita economic production, and support national missions, it is imperative to turn apprenticeship into a participatory movement. It not only exposes candidates to real-time industrial environments but allows them the opportunity to contribute to the economy even during training. It also gives a boost to the Skill India Mission by creating sustainable skill development strategies in association with the government, businesses, and educational systems. The youth also need to be made aware of the facilities for apprenticeship so that they are able to make the best use of their skills. In order to turn this dream into reality, all the stakeholders - Central and State governments, industry associations, MSMEs - need to work together so that the youth are encouraged to take up formal skill training via approved apprenticeships.

There are about 50 lakh employees in Central Public Sector Enterprises including PSUs, PSBs, etc. If these establishments engage apprentices even up to the mandatory minimum limit of 2.5% of the total manpower strength, the number could reach 1.25 lakh. Large private enterprises can further add to this intake. Besides, there are a large number of establishments in MSME sector which come under the ambit of the Apprenticeship Act, but their participation in implementation of apprenticeship training has not been optimal. There are about 21 lakh MSMEs having six or more workers. Even if each establishment engages one apprentice, the number of apprentices could be 21 lakh. Therefore, there is a huge potential for apprenticeship training in the country.

CIVIL SERVICES (MAIN) EXAMINATION ...

very clearly explained in NCERT books on economy, one needs to understand the entire budgetary process, concepts like fiscal, revenue deficits, monetary and fiscal policies, role of the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) as a regulatory body, challenges of reviving a pandemic affected economy, issues of trade deficits, economic benefits of bilateral agreements with different countries, etc.

Agriculture: Some of the important topics to be covered in agriculture are - farmers' income, new agricultural practices, problems of agricultural marketing, organic farming, zero budget farming, issues of agricultural finance, impact of climate change on agriculture, crop diversification, changes in irrigational practices to save underground water, etc.

Environment & Ecology: The horizons of environment and ecology are fast expanding as climate change is impacting human lives and livelihood in multiple ways. Therefore, this section requires added attention by candidates. One should be thorough with the issues of climate change, its causative factors, climate negotiations like COP 26, Paris Climate Treaty, agenda of the upcoming COP 27 meet in Egypt, etc. Further, India's stand and its engagement with climate issues must be followed. One must also know the meaning and significance of environmental terms and terminologies, especially the current ones. For example, terms like anthropogenic change, adaptation, mitigation, and resilience are used everyday on reporting climate related issues. Similarly, terms like heat budget, net-zero emissions, heat domes, ocean acidifications etc must be familiarized with. There is a lot to learn about the wildlife also. For example, translocation of cheetah in Kuno National Park, Madhya Pradesh has given rise to fierce debate on its rationale and viability. There will be many more such topics being regularly reported in newspapers, TV, social media which require attention.

Disaster Management: Both man-made and natural disasters cause loss of life and livelihood. Their causes, prevention, mitigation strategies, need to be studied. Role of NDMA (National Disaster Management Authority) and other agencies in tackling disasters should also be examined. Earthquakes, floods, lightning, landslides occur frequently in different parts of India. How to minimize damage caused by these disasters and ways to rehabilitate the affected people, should be prepared. Policy response to these disasters should also be looked into.

Internal Security: The syllabus of internal security is well laid out and this makes it easier to follow the relevant issues. The role of various agencies like the Home Ministry, para-military forces, NIA (National Investigation Agency) and also the organizational structure dealing with internal security should be understood. Issues of border security, drug trafficking, human trafficking, cross-border terrorism, ethnic violence, separatism, radicalism, naxalism are extremely important. Money laundering, terror finance, role of FATF (Financial Action Task Force) in tackling these problems, cyber security, are other related issues to be prepared well.

Science & Technology: Latest developments in space, bio-technology, blockchain technology, defence, artificial intelligence, should be covered by following newspapers and scientific journals.

GS-IV PAPER

This is a paper which is known as Ethics, Integrity and Aptitude and it was introduced in the Civil Services (Main) Examination only in 2013 in order to evaluate the approach of the candidates to issues that need application of values, morality and Ethics in Civil Services. The Ethics paper is divided into two segments, viz; seven subjective questions based on the syllabus, and six-seven case studies. A close look at the Ethics syllabus reveals that everything in it is not necessarily about Ethics. There are sections on Social Psychology, viz; attitudes, and emotional intelligence. Then, there are sections relating to Governance issues such as Public Delivery, Citizen Charter, and RTI (Right to Information) etc.

The challenge posed by the Ethics syllabus is that it is not descriptive but indicative. Therefore one has to create a syllabus on one's own by deciphering the broad contours of the UPSC syllabus. Moreover, the Ethics syllabus is more contextual and less textual. By this, it is implied that the syllabus is rooted in its social, economic, and human contexts. The questions are raised on problems related to decline of values, lack of integrity and probity issues of corruption which all have a specific context.

The first chapter of Ethics syllabus is its backbone and it requires understanding the meaning, dimensions, consequences of Ethics, its human interface, important ethical thinkers, administrators etc. Applied Ethics is immensely significant. This covers Environmental Ethics, Animal Ethics, Bio Ethics, Sports Ethics, Medical Ethics, Corporate Ethics, Media Ethics, and Ethics of Artificial Intelligence. Similarly, the failure of the family, educational institutions to impart the right values in children is part of the first chapter which needs to be covered.

For the chapters on attitude and emotional intelligence, one needs to look up a book on social psychology. NCERT books on social psychology have given the fundamentals of these two chapters, but are not adequate for writing answers. Therefore, additional studies are called for on these chapters.

On governance-related topics under the Ethics syllabus, the best reference source is Administrative Reforms Commission's Fourth Report. It must be stressed here that there is no need to run for too many study materials on Ethics, what is really required is to develop insight on the issues that affect us and formulate a value based stand. However, for topics like corruption, Citizens Charter, international relations, utilization of public funds, one needs to consult relevant sources.

As regards the case studies asked in the Ethics paper, one must understand at the very outset that no specialized knowledge is required to solve these cases as they are of very general nature. The best way to approach case studies is to apply the following principles.

- Understanding the issues given in the case study
- Pinpointing the issues that need solution in the case study
- Finding the most practicable solution that is workable, not just ideal talks
- Solving ethical dilemmas, if any, in the case study
- Taking into account public interest while suggesting a solution
- Application of empathy, emotional intelligence while solving the problem
- A stakeholders' approach to problem solving
- Decision making capacity

As stated earlier, the best way to approach the Ethics paper is to closely examine the pattern of previous years' questions.

Key Advice: Familiarity with ethics related terms and their applications in real life situations is clue to preparing for Ethics syllabus. A glossary of terms should be compiled. Terms like accountability, autonomy, generosity, compassion, tolerance, empathy, virtue, fortitude, objectivity, impartiality etc need to be familiarized with. Also, the basic tenets of important western thinkers like Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, Machiavelli, Kant, Rawls as well as Indian religious leaders like Buddha, Mahavira, Sankara, Kabir, Guru Nanak need to be covered along with their quotations.

EMPLOYMENT NEWS

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

In his recent 'Mann ki Baat' address, Prime Minister Narendra Modi talked about the importance of fairs in Indian culture and how they play a crucial role in keeping the tradition of the country alive. Is any such fair organised in your region and if yes, what is its speciality and significance?

Entries may be sent to writetous.en@gmail.com latest by 31/8/2022 in English/Hindi/Urdu and should be of 200 to 250 words. Entrants must clearly mention their Name, Age, Full Address, Email ID and Contact No. The entry adjudged best will be published in Employment News/Rozgar Samachar (issue dated 10 - 16 September, 2022) and will be eligible for a three-month free subscription of Yojana/ Kurukshetra/ Aikya as per the winner's choice.

BEST ENTRY FOR

ISSUE DATED 30 July-5 August 2022

Question: July 28th is celebrated as World Nature Conservation Day to create awareness about protecting and conserving natural resources. India has had many local practices that have contributed immensely in conserving the forests, water resources, and the wildlife. Chipko Movement is one example. Which such movement/ practice/ technique inspires you the most and you think should be adopted at a national level in order to add to the momentum of existing conservation practices in the country?

KETAKI MANE

ZABO: The Art of Impounding Water: It is an effective conservation method for forest, water resource and the wild life. It is highly applicable in Kikuma village in Nagaland where it has its own system of water harvesting, which helps manage water, nurture soil and optimize agriculture.

ZABO means impounding water, is an ingenious method of catching rainwater on mountains. It involves the preservation of forest on the hill tops as they are the catchment for the water. At the next level are the ponds dug out to hold rainwater, which is brought there through small channels. Then water is passed through cattle yards into paddy fields where fisheries are grown too. At the end, water carries the dung and urine of the animals to the fields to meet the nutrition needs of the soil. I really feel that this unique system must be replicated in Indian Hilly Rain shadow topography where farmers will be benefited and their cattle and other animals shall have ample fodder for healthy survival. Government should consider ZABO method for long run agriculture and irrigation, it will help achieve target of doubling farmers income by 2022. Lastly, this will help alleviate poverty of marginal and tenant farmers and create employment opportunities for female farmers too, rural based agro industry can be setup and this will help in social inclusion also. Flora and Fauna will thrive and balance of the ecosystem will be maintained. Awareness and concern for environment should best come from within.
