Effectively Combating Pirates of the High Seas

Sidharath Jha

Piracy not only affects seafarers and trade and industry, but we, sitting miles away in our homes, are also indirectly affected by it. The act of 'Piracy' involves offences that include (i) robbery or hijacking, wherein the objective of the attack is to capture or harm a maritime vessel or its cargo, and (ii) kidnapping the vessel and its crew and threatening them for payment of ransom. Acts of piracy can result in loss of life, physical harm or hostage-taking of seafarers, disruptions to commerce and navigation, financial losses to ship owners, increased insurance premiums and security costs, increased costs to consumers and producers, and damage to the marine environment. These criminal acts can have widespread ramifications, including preventing humanitarian assistance and increasing the costs of future shipments to affected areas.

In contemporary times, piracy is not restricted to a particular zone but has become a global problem. However, it is majorly visible in the Gulf of Aden, Gulf of Guinea, Malacca Strait, the Red Sea, and Somali waters. After 2008, piracy saw an unprecedented spike in the Gulf of Aden, off the coast of Somalia. As this region, which connects the Arabian Sea to the Red Sea and to the Mediterranean Sea through the Suez Canal, has many important sea lanes for trade between Asia and Europe/East coast of Africa, stakeholders quickly enhanced naval presence in the area repressing piracy to a large extent. However, major fallout of the development was that pirates began to shift their operations eastwards and southwards in the Indian Ocean, leading to numerous piracy attempts being reported off Seychelles and Mauritius. After reaching a peak in 2012, the number of piracy incidents off the coast of Somalia declined, but a new hotspot for piracy has now emerged in the Gulf of Guinea off the coast of Nigeria. There were also some piracy incidents reported off the western coast of India, which were successfully countered by the Indian Navy and Coast Guard through enhanced vigilance and anti-piracy operations.

The Maritime Anti - Piracy Bill, 2022 is a significant development in India's efforts to combat piracy and protect its maritime interests. The Bill allows Indian authorities to take action against pirate ships and to bring the perpetrators to justice in Indian Courts. This is the first dedicated legal framework adopted by India to effectively combat piracy and protect its interests in the high

Actuarial Science: A Promising Career for the Coming Decade

Prateek Singh

Do you have a knack for using analytical skills to solve problems and create innovative business solutions? If so, a career as an actuary may be a good fit for you. Actuaries are business professionals who use mathematics, statistics, and financial theory to assess the financial implications of risk and uncertainty. This career is consistently ranked as one of the top professions and offers a range of interesting work, job security, and competitive pay. The Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India (IRDAI) reports that there are currently only around 500 certified actuaries in India compared to their high demand in a number of sectors.

The COVID-19 pandemic, which began two years ago and is still ongoing, has brought about significant changes globally and in various industries. While the need for digital solutions increased to ensure continuity, the demand for actuaries also increased. Actuaries are professionals who specialize in the measurement and management of risk and uncertainty, skills that have become particularly important during these uncertain times. The pandemic has highlighted risks that were previously overlooked, and it has affected every aspect of a company's financial statements and daily operations. Therefore, it is crucial for businesses to use risk management techniques to mitigate potential risks. Actuaries are especially valuable in this regard, as they can effectively strategise to manage risks more efficiently. The emergence of COVID-19 has led to an increase in public health concerns, making it even more important for companies to evaluate risks, particularly those related to finance, insurance, and related fields, as the frequency and size of claims can increase significantly. Actuaries have been working to address and mitigate the health, mortality, and financial risks posed by this new form of exposure, particularly in regards to the financial security systems and programs that many actuaries manage.

PM Shri Narendra Modi's Mann Ki Baat

HIGHLIGHTS

- 2022 has indeed been very inspiring and wonderful in many ways. This year India completed 75 years of her independence and in this very year Annirkaal commenced. 2022 saw India attaining the status of the world's fifth largest economy. In this very year, India made a historic feat of administering 220 crore doses of COVID vaccine. The country also crossed the exports figure of 400 billion dollars.
- The people adopted the historic resolve of making India Atmanirbhar. We welcomed India's first indigenous Aircraft Carrier INS Vikrant as India made remarkable strides in the Space, Drone and Defence Sector. Even in the field of sports, be it the Commonwealth Games, or the victory of our women's hockey team, our youth have shown tremendous potential.
- Taking forward the resolve of Ek Bharat-Shreshtha Bharat, the people of the country organized many amazing events to celebrate unity and togetherness. In events like the Madhavpur Mela in Gujarat, and the Kashi-Tamil Sangamam, many colors of unity were visible.
- The Har Ghar Tiranga campaign organised in the month of August was also an exemplary display of nationalism and unity. This Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav will continue in the same way next year as well and it will further strengthen the foundation of Amritkaal.
- In the year 2023, we have to take the enthusiasm of G20 to new heights; make this event a mass movement.
- On 25th December, the nation celebrates the festival of Christmas with much fervor. We also remember our respected former Prime Minister Shri Atal Bihari Vajpayeeji who was born on this very date. He was a great statesman who gave exceptional leadership to the country. He has a special place in the heart of every Indian. Be it infrastructure, education or foreign policy, he strove to take India to new heights in every field.
- On 26th December, we observe Veer Bal Diwas dedicated to the martyrdom of Sahibzada Zorawar Singh ji and Sahibzada Fateh Singh ji. The country will always remember the sacrifice of Sahibzada and Mata Gujri.

- I am happy that in the era of evidence-based medicine, Yoga and Ayurveda are now standing up to the touchstone of the modern era. An intensive research done by the Tata Memorial Center in Mumbai has revealed that Yoga is very effective for breast cancer patients. The centre presented its findings at the prestigious Breast Cancer conference held recently in the United States of America and at the European Society of Medical Oncology conference in Paris. These results have attracted the attention of the world's biggest experts. According to the research, regular practice of Yoga reduces the risk of recurrence of breast cancer in patients by 15 percent. This is the first example of Indian traditional medicine being tested vis a vis the stringent standards of the Western methods. Also, this is the first study, in which Yoga has been found to improve the quality of life in women affected by breast cancer. Its long term benefits have also come to the fore.
- The Center for Integrative Medicine and Research, established six years ago at AIIMS, Delhi, is also making efforts to validate our traditional medical practices. By using latest modern techniques and research methods. The center has already published 20 papers in reputed international journals that include a paper published in the Journal of the American College of Cardiology describing the benefits of Yoga for patients suffering from Syncope. Similarly, in a paper published in the Neurology Journal, the benefits of Yoga in Migraine have been explained. Apart from these, studies are being done regarding the benefits of Yoga in many other diseases like heart disease, depression, sleep disorder and problems faced by women during pregnancy.

- In the recently concluded World Ayurveda Congress in Goa, delegates from more than 40 countries participated and more than 550 scientific papers were presented. Around 215 companies from around the world including India displayed their products in the exhibition that was held on the sidelines of the event. The way we all are seeing the power of Yoga and Ayurveda in this time of the Corona global pandemic, evidence-based research related to these will prove to be very significant.
- The disease named 'Kala Azar' is now getting eradicated rapidly from India. Till recently, the scourge of Kala-azar had spread in more than 50 districts across 4 States. But now this disease is confined to only 4 districts of Bihar and Jharkhand. I am sure, the strength and awareness of the people of Bihar-Jharkhand will help the government's efforts to eliminate 'Kala Azar' from these four districts as well. I also urge the people of 'Kala Azar' affected areas to keep two things in mind. One is - control of sand fly, and second, diagnosis and complete treatment of this disease as soon as possible.
- In this spirit of Sab ka Prayas, we are also working towards eradication of TB (Tuberculosis) by the year 2025. You must have seen, in the recent past, when the TB Mukh Bharat campaign started, thousands of people came forward to help the TB patients. These people, as *Nikshay Mitra*s, are taking care of the patients, helping them financially. This power of public service and public participation achieves every difficult goal with certainty.

- There is a big responsibility on all of us to keep River Ganges clean. With this objective, eight years ago, we started the Namami Gange campaign. It is a matter of pride for all of us that the United Nations has included the Namami Gange mission in the world's top ten initiatives to restore the ecosystem. With the popularity of the Namami Gange mission, its scope has increased much more than the cleaning of the river. Whereas this evidence is direct proof of our willpower and tireless efforts, on the other hand, it is also going to show a new path to the world in the direction of environmental protection.
- I am happy that the Swachh Bharat mission has become firmly rooted in the mind of every Indian today. Since the inception of this mass movement in the year 2014, to take it to new heights, many unique efforts have been made by the people. These efforts are being made not only within the society but also on part of the government. The result of these continuous efforts is that - due to the removal of garbage, removal of unnecessary items, a lot of space opens up in the offices, new space is available.
- A new awareness is dawning in our country about our art and culture, a new consciousness is awakening. Just as art, literature and culture are the collective capital of the society, in the same way, it is the responsibility of the whole society to take them forward. Such successful efforts are being made in Lakshadweep by the Kummel Brothers

Challengers Club by training the youth in the local art of Kolkali, Parichakli, Killpaat and traditional songs. Likewise, Quemashreeji, who lives in Gadak district of Karnataka has been continuously engaged for the last 25 years in the mission of reviving the art-culture of Karnataka by creating a platform by the name of 'Kala Chetna'. This enthusiasm of the countrymen towards their art and culture is a manifestation of the feeling of pride in our heritage.

- Ever since the country changed the British-era laws related to bamboo, a huge market has developed for it. Even in areas like Palghar in Maharashtra, tribal people make many beautiful products from bamboo, thus creating opportunities for employment. In Shivamogga in Karnataka, people are making many decorative things ranging from trays, plates and handbags from betel nut fiber. Their products are being sold in London and other markets of Europe. In this traditional knowledge of India, the world is looking at ways of a sustainable future.

Social Progress Index A Holistic Understanding of Progress

The Economic Advisory Council to the Prime Minister (EAC-PM) recently released the Social Progress Index (SPI) for States and Districts of India. The index is prepared every year by the Institute for Competitiveness and Social Progress Imperative and presented to the EAC-PM. The goal of the SPI is to help policymakers achieve sustainable and inclusive economic growth through improved outcomes in areas such as health, climate resilience, and access to education. As social progress becomes an increasingly important issue for governments, businesses, and civil society around the world, it is crucial that our economic development aligns with social goals in order to promote prosperity for all regions of the country.

What is Social Progress Index?

SPI contributes to emphasizing the significance of equitably sharing economic and social gains and creating an inclusive India. The report ranks 36 States/Union Territories and 707 districts of India based on their performance across various social progress indicators.

SPI is an actionable tool that draws attention to areas requiring intervention by bringing out data-driven insights which helps state and district-level officials to formulate strategies for inclusive growth and prioritise public investments. Further, the index acts as a guide for development partners and donors to identify and invest in the appropriate areas. The index is a measurement tool that focuses exclusively, comprehensively and systematically on the non-economic dimensions of social performance with transparent and actionable data. This approach aligns with the UN 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, which envisages a future of inclusive and sustainable growth and development.

SPI rigorously measures country performance on many aspects of social and environmental performance which are relevant for countries at all levels of economic development. It enables an assessment of not just absolute country performance but also relative performance compared to a country's economic peers.

Social Progress Index Methodology

The SPI report defines 'social progress' as the "capacity of a society to meet the basic human needs of its citizens, establish the building blocks that allow citizens and communities to enhance and sustain the quality of their lives, and create the conditions for all individuals to reach their full potential". This definition, established in consultation with a group of academic and policy experts, drives the framework of the SPI. It alludes to three broad elements of social progress, which we refer to as dimensions: Basic Human Needs, Foundations of Wellbeing, and Opportunity. Under each dimension are four components.

- Basic Human Needs assess the performance of states and districts in terms of Nutrition and Basic Medical Care, Water and Sanitation, Personal Safety and Shelter.
- Foundations of Wellbeing evaluates the progress made by the country across the components of Access to Basic Knowledge, Access to Information and Communication, Health and Wellness, and Environmental Quality.
- Opportunity focuses on Personal Rights, Personal Freedom and Choice, Inclusiveness, and Access to Advanced Education.

Thus, the index is structured around 12 components and weighs 89 indicators at the State/UT level and 49 at the district level. The framework not only provides an aggregate country score and ranking but also allows benchmarking on specific areas of strength and weakness. This comprehensive tool serves as a holistic measure of a country's social progress at the national and sub-national levels.

Findings

Globally, India is currently ranked 110th in the world on the Social Progress Index, scoring 60.19/100, in the fourth tier of performance. Since 2011, India has improved its score by 8.49 points, the third greatest. India's biggest gains, by 37.79 points, have been in Access to Information and Communication. Alongside this, access to online Government services has soared.

The next biggest gains have been in Shelter, by 20.99 points. Since 2011, the use of clean fuels in households has doubled, rising from 32.4% to 64.2% of the population. Water and Sanitation has also seen a significant improvement since 2011, by 18.8 points. The most significant gains have been in access to sanitation, from 44% of the population in 2011 to almost 72% in 2022. Nutrition and Basic Medical Care has improved by 9.66 points and the access to essential healthcare, which increased to 51.5% since 2022.

State-wise, Puducherry has the highest SPI score of 65.99 in the country, attributable to its remarkable performance across components like Personal Freedom and Choice, Shelter, and Water and Sanitation. Lakshadweep and Goa closely follow it with scores of 65.89 and 65.53, respectively. Jharkhand and Bihar scored the lowest, 43.95 and 44.47, respectively.

For the dimension of Basic Human Needs, Goa, Puducherry, Lakshadweep, and Chandigarh are the top four with the best performance in Water and Sanitation and Shelter, as compared to the other States and Union Territories. In addition, Goa has the highest component score for Water and Sanitation, followed by Kerala, scoring the highest across the Nutrition and Basic Medical Care component. For Shelter and Personal Safety, Chandigarh and Nagaland have emerged as the front-runners, respectively.

Mizoram, Himachal Pradesh, Ladakh, and Goa have emerged as the best-performing States/UTs for the Foundations of Wellbeing. Within the dimension for the Access to Basic Knowledge component, Punjab has the highest component score of 62.92, while Delhi has topped the list for Access to Information and Communication with a score of 71.30. For Health and Wellness, Rajasthan has the highest component score of 73.74. For Environmental Quality, the top three states belong to the northeast region, namely, Mizoram, Nagaland, and Meghalaya.

Lastly, Tamil Nadu has achieved the highest component score of 72.00 for the Opportunity dimension. Within this dimension, Andaman and Nicobar Islands have the highest component score for Personal Rights, while Sikkim has topped the list for Inclusiveness.

Effectively Combating Pirates of the High Seas

seas. The Bill is also a strong signal to the international community that India is committed to addressing this global problem and working with other countries to ensure the safety and security of the world's oceans.

Highlights of Maritime Anti-Piracy Bill, 2022

- The Bill enables Indian authorities to take action against piracy in the high seas.
- It applies to the sea beyond the Exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ), i.e., beyond 200 nautical miles from India's coastline.
- Participating, organising, aiding, supporting, attempting to commit, and directing others to participate in an act of piracy will be punishable with up to 14 years of imprisonment, and a fine.
- The Bill provides for (i) life imprisonment; or (ii) death, if the act of piracy causes or seeks to cause death.
- These offences are considered extraditable, meaning that the accused can be transferred to any country for prosecution with which India has signed an extradition treaty. In the absence of such a treaty, offences may be extraditable on the basis of reciprocity between the countries.
- The Bill fulfils the obligations undertaken by India when it ratified the UN Convention on the Law of Sea (UNCLOS), which requires States to cooperate in the repression of piracy on the high seas or in any other place outside the jurisdiction of the States.

Jurisdiction of the Courts

- Under the provisions of the Maritime Anti - Piracy Bill, 2022, the Central Government, in consultation with the Chief Justice of the relevant High Court, may designate certain Sessions Courts as the courts responsible for trying offences that fall under the purview of piracy as defined in the Bill.
- These designated courts will have jurisdiction to try offences committed by a person in the custody of the Indian Navy or Coast Guard, regardless of their nationality, as well as offences committed by Indian citizens, resident foreign nationals in India, or stateless persons. The designated court may also try a person even if they are not physically present in the court.
- The designated court will not have jurisdiction over offences committed on a foreign ship unless an intervention is requested by the country of origin of the ship, the ship-owner, or any other person on the ship.
- Warships and Government-owned ships employed for non-commercial purposes will not be under the jurisdiction of the designated court.

- These provisions are intended to ensure that the designated court has the authority to hold perpetrators of piracy accountable, while also respecting the sovereignty of other countries and the rights of ship-owners.

Jurisdiction of Ministries, Departments, & Agencies

Piracy involves several Ministries like the Ministry of External Affairs, Ministry of Home Affairs, Ministry of Defence, Shipping, Law and Justice, etc. and each Ministry / Department has been assigned with specific duties and jurisdictions, right from apprehending the suspected pirates till conviction of pirates by designated courts. Various clauses of the Bill specifically address the issues of arrest, investigation and seizure of property, designated court and its jurisdiction and trial of the offences by the designated court. The Ministry of Defence, Indian Navy, Indian Coast Guard will be responsible for taking action to apprehend suspected pirates at sea, to transport such persons to the next port of call and for handing apprehended suspects over to State law enforcing authorities for prosecution. The Ministry of Home Affairs and State law enforcement authorities would then make arrangements for detention of suspected pirates and to bring them to trial by the designated court. The convicted pirates would serve the sentences in Indian jails as directed by the designated courts. They would then be deported to their countries of origin, upon completion of their sentences. The Ministry of External Affairs would be required to intervene in such cases where Indian authorities seek extradition of a pirate held by another country or if a request for extradition of a pirate in India's custody is received from another country.

Territorial Water, High Seas and EEZs

India's maritime boundary recognized by the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS) entails boundaries of territorial waters, contiguous zones, and Exclusive Economic Zones (EEZ). India, with its claim of a 12-nautical-mile (22 km; 14 mi) territorial maritime zone and 200-nautical-mile (370 km; 230 mi) Exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ), has a more than 7,000-kilometre (4,300 mi) maritime border shared with seven nations including Bangladesh, Indonesia, Myanmar, Sri Lanka, Thailand, Pakistan, and the Maldives.

Territorial Waters: These are the waters extending from the coast of a country out to a certain distance, usually 12 nautical miles (22.2 kilometers), and are subject to the sovereign jurisdiction of that country. This means that the laws and regulations of the coastal state apply within its territorial waters, and the coastal state has the right to exercise control over the use and activities within these waters. The coastal state can enforce its laws against foreign vessels that are present in its territorial waters without its permission, including the right to grant or deny access to such vessels and to regulate activities such as fishing and the exploration and exploitation of natural resources.

Exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ): This is a sea area extending beyond and adjacent to a country's territorial sea, up to a maximum of 200 nautical miles from the baseline from which the breadth of the territorial sea is measured. Beyond 200 nautical miles, the sea is considered the high seas and is open to all other states. Under the provisions of the EEZ, a state has the right and control over the area, including the ability to move its ships, fish, collect intelligence, and exercise other sovereign rights. However, under Article 58 of the UNCLOS, foreign countries are also entitled to certain rights within the EEZ of another country. The right to navigation also allows foreign ships to move through the EEZ of another country. The latter part of Article 58 also specifies "other internationally lawful uses of the sea related to these freedoms." UNCLOS stipulates that there should be no violence or threat of violence, or intelligence gathering, while passing through another country's EEZ.

High Seas: These refer to the area of the ocean that is beyond the territorial waters of any nation and is not subject to the jurisdiction of any particular state. The high seas are considered the "common heritage of mankind" and are governed by international laws, specifically the UNCLOS. Under UNCLOS, the high seas are open to all nations for the purposes of navigation, overflight, the laying of cables and pipelines, and other activities related to the exploration and exploitation of the sea, its resources, and the seabed. All nations have the right to use the high seas for these purposes, but they are also required to respect the rights of other nations and to refrain from any activity that would prejudice the interests of other states.

How India Tackled Maritime Piracy Earlier

Till now, India did not have a separate domestic legislation addressing the issue of maritime piracy. In the past, provisions in the Indian Penal Code (1860 IPC) related to armed robbery and the Admiralty jurisdiction of certain courts have been used to prosecute pirates captured by the Indian Navy and the Coast Guard. However, piratical acts committed by foreigners outside of India's territorial waters cannot be prosecuted under the IPC as the jurisdiction of India's legal system is limited to its territorial waters, which extend 12 nautical miles from the coastline. An example of this is the Alondra Rainbow case in 1999, in which the Mumbai High Court acquitted the accused due to a lack of jurisdiction for India to prosecute them. Meanwhile, pirates caught by the Indian forces were extradited to other countries as per bilateral extradition agreements or on case-to-case basis in the absence of bilateral treaties. Extraditions were also made between States that are party to the UNCLOS.

However, given the increasing incidence of piracy, including within India's Exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ), and the increasing number of pirates apprehended by the Indian Naval Forces, the need was felt for a comprehensive domestic legislation on piracy. It was decided in early 2011, that the Ministry of External Affairs should coordinate the inter-ministerial exercise of preparing domestic legislation on piracy. Likewise, the Anti-Maritime Piracy Bill 2012 was formulated but the Bill lapsed with the dissolution of the 15th Lok Sabha. The Bill was re-drafted in its present form and introduced in the Lok Sabha on December 9, 2019, and was referred to the Standing Committee on External Affairs for detailed examination and recommendations. After taking into consideration the recommendations of the Standing Committee and following deliberations in both the houses, the Bill was ratified by the Parliament during the recently concluded winter session.

Piracy: Global Scenario

It is worth noting that the rise in global piracy, which began in the mid-1990s, coincided with the growth in maritime trade. As global trade continues to expand, with maritime trade specifically reaching a new high, the number of ships on the ocean carrying goods and resources also increases. This proliferation of shipping, facilitated by the use of container vessels which help reduce costs, means that over 90% of world trade is now transported by sea. Unfortunately, this increase in maritime trade also leads to an increase in piracy, as more ships become targets for pirates. The high volume of slow-moving traffic in key shipping areas like the Strait of Malacca and the Gulf of Aden also provides more opportunities for attacks.

According to the latest quarterly report of the International Maritime Bureau (IMB), there were 90 incidents of piracy and armed robbery against ships in the first nine months of 2022. Perpetrators were successful in gaining access to the vessels in 95% of the reported incidents which are broken down as 85 vessels boarded, four attempted attacks, and one vessel hijacked. In many of the cases, vessels were either at anchor or steaming when boarded, with nearly all the incidents occurring during the hours of darkness. Though these are amongst the lowest reports in decades, violence to crew continues with 27 crew taken hostage, six assaulted and five threatened. The risk to the crew, however petty or opportunistic the incident, remains real. Of the 90 global piracy and armed robbery incidents, 13 have been reported in the Gulf of Guinea region - the world's biggest piracy hotspot in recent years. There were 31 reports of incidents in the Singapore Straits in the first nine months of 2022. Vessels underway, including several large vessels and tankers, were boarded in all 31 reports and in most cases, ship stores or properties were stolen. Crews also continue to be at risk with weapons reported in at least 16 incidents, including some involving very large bulk carriers and tankers.

Major Takeaways of the Bill

- Strategically, India will be equipped with a legislative framework for the first time to deal with non-military threats at sea.
- The Bill has huge economic benefits for the nation as India is now a major trading country of the world. As India exports more and imports more, the cost of shipping, whether it is insurance cost, security cost or ransom cost, will come down if piracy is effectively tackled. Because of piracy, insurance covers of ships had increased, impacting the cost of freight, thereby impacting the economy.
- One of the biggest problems India faced till now was that anybody apprehended outside the territorial water could not be tried. Now with this law, any act of piracy can be tackled with, even if it is happening in the Horns of Africa or anywhere else.
- The Bill gives validity to the prosecution of pirates in the Exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ) and beyond the EEZ.
- The Bill fulfils India's commitment to its international obligations against maritime piracy.
- The Bill emboldens India's position as a benign maritime power as it enables Indian maritime forces (Indian Navy and Indian Coast Guard) to pursue anti-piracy operations anywhere in the world. Earlier, India was engaged in multi-piracy patrols but there were no provisions to take effective legal action against perpetrators.

Social Progress Index: A Holistic ...

Similarly, the districts have been accorded scores in line with the component of the index. To read the full report, scan the QR code.

The Need for Social Progress Index

As stated in the aforementioned report, there has been a growing realisation that GDP alone is unable to transform the lives of people around the world has led to a surge in initiatives trying to address this concern and supplement the "moving beyond GDP" debate. "GDP was not designed to measure the quality of life, so over-reliance on GDP and other economic measures can lead to flawed policy choices that do not respond to the actual needs and requirements of the people. Similarly, it also needs to provide access to economic opportunities with skilled human capital, better financial inclusion and transportation and connecti-ty, among others," the report says.

Indices such as Human Development Index, Genuine Progress Indicator, Happiness Index, provide an alternative to GDP by shifting the focus to people-centered policies rather than income measurement techniques. Social Progress Index (SPI) developed by Social Progress Imperative is also a step in the same direction but with a different approach than rest of the indices. It is a tool focused on providing a robust and comprehensive measure of social progress, based on social and environmental indicators that can complement GDP as a measure of well-being.

SPI is conceived on the understanding that economic growth without social progress will lead to exclusion, environmental degradation, and social discontent. The index is the first holistic tool that is designed to measure social progress independent of GDP. SPI, by separating the measurement of social progress from economic development, also helps in providing an empirical

• If the act of piracy has been committed on a ship which is dominated by Indian crew, or if the act of piracy is aimed against an Indian crew who may not be on an Indian ship or an Indian flagged ship but causes harm or injury to the Indian nationals onboard the ship, the act of piracy and pirates can be tried according to the Indian law.

- The Indian Navy and the Indian Coast Guard will have the wherewithal to apprehend pirates, not only in the Indian Ocean Region but also different parts of the world.
- The Bill is a great example of sound public policy as the Bill was referred to the Parliamentary Standing Committee where wider deliberations were held and relationship between the two concepts and hence, offers citizens a better picture of how their country is developing. It helps in informing our understanding of how economic development drives social progress and vice versa. A better understanding of this relationship can help policymakers make strategic choices that can lead to inclusive growth.

Debate over Death Penalty

The provision of death penalty for "acts of piracy that causes or seeks to cause death" was necessitated by the extreme cases of brutality and barbarism displayed by pirates in certain incidences in the past. There have been times when crew members have been left adrift at sea to starve and die. The provision of death penalty has been made to deal with such ghastly cases of violence. The provision mainly acts as a powerful deterrent.

Actuarial Science: A Promising Career for ...

Here are a few potential flip sides of choosing an actuarial career:

- High level of education required: Actuaries typically need to have a strong background in mathematics and statistics, and many employers require a bachelor's degree in actuarial science or a related field. This can be a challenge for some individuals, as the education required for an actuarial career can be demanding and time-consuming.
- Long and intensive preparation for professional exams: Actuaries who want to obtain professional certification from the Actuarial Society of India (ASI) and the Institute of Actuaries of India (IAI) typically need to pass a series of rigorous exams. These exams can be long and intensive, and require a significant amount of time and effort to prepare for.

- High level of responsibility: Actuaries are responsible for assessing and managing risk for organisations, which can be a high-stress and high-stakes job. Actuaries may have to make tough decisions that have significant financial implications, and they may face pressure to make accurate predictions and recommendations.

- Limited career advancement opportunities: Depending on the organisation you work for, you may find that there are limited opportunities for advancement as an actuary. Some actuaries may find that they reach a ceiling in their careers and are unable to progress beyond a certain level.

- Limited exposure to clients: Actuaries who work in the insurance industry may have limited exposure to clients and may spend much of their time working behind the scenes. This can be a drawback for individuals who enjoy working with people and prefer a more customer-facing role.

These are just a few examples of the potential flip sides of choosing an actuarial career. It is important to carefully consider all aspects of a career before making a decision, and to choose a path that is right for you.

ISSUE DATED 17 - 23 December 2022

Question: International Human Solidarity Day is observed on 20 December every year to raise public awareness of the importance of solidarity. The power of the human spirit to come together and work for the betterment of the human population has brought multiple revolutions worldwide. In what way have you witnessed the power of Jan Bhagidari?

MOHAMMED RAFIUDEEN, TAMIL NADU

Solidarity signifies shared goals and interests that bind people together as one. The United Nations Millennium Declaration says that Solidarity is among the fundamental values that are necessary for maintaining international relations. Thus, International Human Solidarity Day is celebrated to raise public awareness on the significance of solidarity and also, to encourage debate on the ways of promoting solidarity for achieving the Sustainable Development Goals. The day also looks for new initiatives to eradicate poverty across the world. Unlike other international days, the International Human Solidarity Day's theme remains the same every year. The United Nations General Assembly identified solidarity as one of the fundamental and universal values by passing a Resolution 60/209, on 22 December 2005. Through the same resolution, the UN announced to observe the International Human Solidarity Day on December 20, every year. The concept of solidarity was further promoted by establishing the World Solidarity Fund to eradicate poverty and the proclamation of International Human Solidarity Day. The day is significant as it seeks to bring nations and people of the world together to promote social and economic development, human rights and peace.

Global partnership can be built only on a foundation of global cooperation and solidarity, like the United Nations' Sustainable Development Agenda is centered on people and planet, supported by a global partnership determined to lift people out of poverty, hunger and disease. The UN believes that strengthening international solidarity is significant to meet the challenges of growing inequality. The day focuses on promoting peace, human rights, and social and economic development with the aim to eradicate poverty. With 1.3 billion Indians in the midst of an unprecedented lockdown to defeat the coronavirus, the collective strength of women's Self-Help Groups (SHGs) had come to the fore.

In over 90 percent of India's districts, away from the limelight of the cities, SHG women were producing facemasks, running community kitchens, delivering essential food supplies, sensitizing people about health and hygiene and combating misinformation. The women's movement that started as a leap of faith some 15 years ago has proved to be an invaluable resource in these difficult times.

■ 2 Key Initiatives to Take India's Urban Rejuvenation Journey to Next Level

The Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs has launched two key initiatives to take India's urban rejuvenation journey to the next level. (i) 'City Finance Rankings' aims to evaluate, recognise and reward ULBs (Urban Local Bodies) on basis of their strength across key financial parameters. (ii) 'City Beauty Competition' aims to encourage and recognise the transformational efforts made by cities and wards in India to create beautiful, innovative and inclusive public spaces. ULBs can benefit immensely by participating in the fiscal rankings as they will be able to self-evaluate their own performance vis-à-vis other cities, which can help them in self-improvement in future. Healthy competition amongst wards and cities would also encourage urban local bodies to improve their basic infrastructure, and also make the urban spaces beautiful, sustainable and inclusive.
